School Bonds Win 'Citizen' Nod

Lowe Tells Why He Quit Sequoia Board

Floyd Lowe of Atherton, Sequoia High School district trustee who Friday announced his intention to resign immediately from the district board in the wake of a heated exchange between himself and Trustee John A. Cost of San Carlos, this week issued a statement explaining his reasons for stepping down.

His decision was announced after the Sequoia board voted to junk Lowe's proposal to finance new construction by a $1 hike in the permissive tax rate maximum, and adopted a resolution calling for submission of a $3,975,000 bond issue to the voters May 20.

The bond issue was described as "more saleable" by Cost.

'NO CHOICE'

Lowe's complete statement read:

"I will tender my resignation to the county superintendent of schools (because) there is, in my opinion, no further choice for me. My usefulness on this board has been reduced to the point that I do not feel it is worth while.

"I am most appreciative of the opportunity to serve the people of this district during the past three years and I have given my best efforts in time and thought and action.

"No doubt there have been times when some have disagreed with me. That is to be expected and will fail to happen only when nothing is done.

"It would be difficult for me to believe that very many people have doubted my sincerity. Certainly I have studied each problem carefully and have not been an example of indecision and weakness.

"In spite of implications otherwise and a multiplicity of duties and obligations and community services I will pit my attendance record for the three-year period against that of any of the other members of the board.

CALLED 'UNETHICAL'

"Because I did the usual thing, when making my announcement not to run for the board in time for other possible candidates to consider it seriously, by making certain recommendations to the board and the general public — specified as my personal opinion — I was accused in (Friday's) board meeting of being 'unethical.'

"I should not care to serve on a public board where tactics of this kind are permitted.

"It was an inspiration to me to serve with such fine men as Dr. Ferrall H. Moore and Ray Winther, and regardless of the fact that we have disagreed at times, I have always found Robert J. Dell'Ergo to be a gentleman. My life has been enriched by knowing him.

"'Any old port in a storm' may be good enough for a sinking ship. Just 'something' that will appease a vocal minority, now increased by four, is not good enough for the present and future children of this district.

"I am sure I shall find ample outlets for my energies and desires to serve youth through renewed efforts with the Boy Scouts, the Dads 'clubs, Little League and the Babe Ruth baseball league to name just a few.

"I sincerely hope Tormey will appoint someone in my place who will be willing to 'join up' with the remaining members of the board in 'swinging down the lane' with the small group which has been successful in establishing themselves as leaders of a minority sufficiently powerful to control the great majority of voters who are so much in earnest.

"'Harmony' must be had even at the price of the children's needs. Or must it?

"I could not close without expressing my appreciation to the large citizens' council whose program I supported right down to my final defeat. The final affrontery to them distresses me.

"Pride of a few vocal objectionists has won a great battle. The future citizens—our children—are the losers."

Lowe, whose three-year term was to have expired this year, had announced two weeks ago that he did not intend to run to succeed himself on the district board of trustees.

Gloom Thickens Over Highway Plan:

8-Year Wait for Willow Link Predicted Even if Fast Work Gains State Action

The state division of highways might not be able to budget funds for a Willow-Sandhill road link for some eight years, even if the connection were to be okayed as a part of the state highway system tomorrow.

Further, it will take at least a year for the division to determine the route even if Menlo Park and Palo Alto officials come to an agreement.

These facts of the cross-Peninsula traffic problem were highlighted this week by State Assemblyman Richard Dolwig (Rep.-Atherton), who told the Recorder that Assemblyman Clark Bradley of Palo Alto, co-author of a bill with Dolwig which would have the link included in the highway system, has refused to move the legislation onto the floor unless Palo Alto and Menlo Park representatives can agree on the necessity for it.

PLAN DISCUSSIONS

Meanwhile, the Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce board of directors has decided to sponsor a series of meetings among representatives of all political subdivisions concerned, with an eye to getting agreement on the proposed route. Substantially, Palo Alto and Menlo Park city councilmen have disagreed on routing, each wanting the link to cross through the other city.

Dolwig told the Recorder, in a telephone conversation from Sacramento Tuesday, another problem has interposed itself: The approval of Redwood City must be obtained if the Willow - Sandhill link is to be made a part of State Highway 107. This route is currently through Redwood City, including Woodside road.

This means, he said, that Redwood City representatives, as well as those of Menlo Park, Palo Alto, Stanford university, San Mateo county and Santa Clara county must agree on the thoroughfare before the highway division will approve it.

Without such approval, the state route proposal is doomed, Dolwig said, in view of the tremendous number of highway bills before the legislature this session.

NO ACTION YET

State Senator Harry Parkman (Rep.-Woodside) told the Recorder this week,

"There has been no action on Senate Bill 1937 routing of Willow-Sandhill road . . . There will probably be no action unless the residents of Menlo Park and Palo Alto come to an agreement as to the route the legislation seeks to effect.

Lynn Winterbotham, secretary-manager of the Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that his group has sponsored meetings, at which the routing has been discussed, over the past two years.

The Palo Alto C of C directors met last week to consider whether or not to alter their stand regarding the highway routing, since the Palo Alto city council's vacillation in supporting, first, a general proposal for such a link and, later, a proposal that the link be routed only through Menlo Park.

The Menlo Park city council is on record as supporting the state link proposal and as being willing to leave specific route detaiis up to engineers of the state highway division.

Red Cross Nets 70 Percent Of Quota Here

As of late Tuesday, Menlo Park had subscribed $11,263.91 toward its quota of $16,000 in the March fund and membership drive of the American Red Cross. This represents 70 per cent of the city's quota, as reported to the Recorder by John Breeden, chairman of the drive in Menlo for the Sequoia chapter of the Red Cross.

The American Trust company of Menlo Park, of which Breeden is manager, is also the first business firm here to report 100 per cent employee membership in the drive.

The residential solicitation, with Earl Jones as chairman, is accountable for 64 per cent of the total subscribed to date, Breeden said.

With only a week to go within the limits established for the drive, Breeden urged workers to step-up the canvass so as to bring the drive to a successful conclusion by April 1.

City Parks Study Urged

Next month marks the first anniversary of the defeat of the city's recreation bond issue, and during the twelvemonth since, two of the proposed park sites have become subdivisions.

Reminder of this was given Tuesday night by Councilman Arthur Cobbledick, who told fellow councilmen that, should the city desire more park area, it would have to "look beyond its borders for space."

He pointed out that the city of Palo Alto is currently developing a golf course adjacent to its yacht harbor; part of the course is in San Mateo county.

Cobbledick urged that the city's recreation department study the same state legislation which has made possible the Palo Alto development.

The matter was referred to the city recreation commission.

A Welcome 'Breathing Space':

Elementary School Trustees Rush Steps to Rent 'Village' Classrooms

Menlo Park Elementary School District trustees were yesterday being contacted with an eye to the calling of a special meeting to take prompt action on Stanford university's offer to rent two buildings in Stanford Village for use as temporary classrooms.

Announcement that she was canvassing members of her board came from Mrs. Phyllis Campbell, chairman, who said the school trustees may find it possible to take action within the next few days, thus eliminating the need for waiting until their next regular meeting, April 11.

Meanwhile, school trustees characterized the offer of the university as providing a "breathing space" which will allow them to plan more carefully for future buildings.

The rooms would be of greatest possible use during the coming school year, when serious crowding could have been expected since new buildings cannot be constructed by next fall even if a May 20 $393,000 bond issue proposal is passed.

The buildings will be selected from among several apartment structures in the southwest corner of the Village, near the City of Menlo Park recreation area.

NEED SPACE

"Stanford very much needs these buildings for student housing, but we consider the school district's need is even greater," Stanford President Wallace Sterling declared in announcing the offer.

The lease would mean loss of 16 one- and two-room apartments. It is anticipated the buildings could be remodelled to provide 10 or more classrooms in time for the opening of school next fall.

"We appreciate Stanford's interest and cooperation in helping us with our school room problem," declared Mrs. Phyllis Campbell, school district board president. "We shall give the proposal serious consideration."

Stanford leases the 85-acre Village from the federal government and would be sub-leasing to the school district. Should negotiations which have been in progress for many months result in sale of the property to Stanford, the University hopes to eventually sell a school site to the district.

In all probability, the site would include the two buildings now under consideration for lease.

'Friendly SP' Takes a Look At Depot Parking

The friendly Southern Pacific may take a hand in helping solve Menlo Park's commuter parking problem, it was indicated this week by City Councilman Vaile Andrus, and other interested groups are also seeking a solution.

Andrus reported to the council Tuesday night that the depot parking problem here is "now before the general manager" of the railroad company, indicating it is under official scrutiny. Andrus has been exploring possible ways of using all of the Southern Pacific's land in the depot area in the most efficient possible way.

Meanwhile, councilmen also agreed to take under study a proposal by Fred Sammis, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, asking that they explore the possibility of issuing coded cards which could be used to admit bona fide commuters to a regularly designated commuter parking area.

The latter matter will be taken up at the council's informal meeting next week.

Civil Defense Forum Slated Here Tonight

A public forum on the problems of civilian defense with participants including Menlo Park's mayor, a nuclear physicist and a block warden will be held tonight at 8:15 p. m. in the Menlo Park city council chambers under the auspices of the Menlo-Atherton Democratic club, President Evans Wyckoff announced this week.

Mayor Charles Burgess, who is soon to witness A-bomb tests in Nevada, will participate in the forum along with Samuel Fainuty, nuclear physicist at Stanford Research Institute; Dr. Richard Blum, research psychologist at SRI, and Mrs. Philip O'Donnell, Menlo Park block warden.

Possible weapons, means of defense, and things that civilians, the community and the nation can do for defense will be among the topics discussed, Wyckoff said.

This is the second in a series of public - service meetings being sponsored by the Menlo-Atherton Democratic club.

New officers of the Menlo-Atherton Democratic club in addition to Wyckoff who will be taking office Thursday include: Mrs. Catherine McCann, vice president; Mrs. Ora Silen, secretary, and Mrs. Lisa Tyre, treasurer.

Among club members participating in the Fresno state Democratic convention this weekend are Mrs. McCann and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Achelis.

Annual District Spelldowns Slated

Menlo Park Elementary School District spelling bee will be held at 10 a.m. April 12 at Central school, it was announced this week by Paul R. Stouffer, curriculum consultant for the school district.

No definite dates have been set for spelldowns at the four schools of the district, Stouffer said, but they will be held prior to the date for the district meet. Encinal school will be scene of the county spelling bee later in April.

Judges at the April 12 meet will be Roger Freeberg, managing editor of the Recorder and Frederick Sammis, secretary-manager of the Menlo Park Chamber of Commerce.

Stolen Auto Quickly Found

An auto stolen from in front of 481 Willow road last Thursday was returned within 24 hours, after the driver was arrested by San Francisco police who observed the theft suspect "driving poorly."

Booked at the county jail was Walter Walker, 34, who gave no home address. He was charged with grand theft.

The auto was owned by Peter T. Kirsten of Palo Alto.

Last Chance:

TO REGISTER

March 27—this coming Sunday—is final date for registering to vote in the Menlo Park Elementary and Sequoia high school district trustees' and bond issue elections of May 20, it was pointed out this week by City Clerk Mrs. Margaret A. Becker.

To be eligible to register, prospective voters must have lived in their precincts 54 days; they must be citizens and over 21 years of age, one year in the state and 90 days in the county.

Deputy registrars of voters in this area include Mrs. Becker, during regular office hours at the city hall; Flood park pharmacy, 643 Bay road; Sturz-Kaiser hardware store in the University Heights area.

Several individual deputy registrars in the area, and appointments for registration in the home may be made by calling Mrs. James R. Lee, DA 3-4915.

Hood Backs Bond Plan, Raps Board

Former Menlo Park Elementary School District trustee Robin Hood Monday night indicated his support of the district's proposed bond issue but bluntly attacked the district's trustees and administration as "lacking leadership."

His remarks were made at Monday's meeting of School District Citizens' Council and, in informal conversaiton after the meeting, he specifically named district Superintendent Dr. Melville Homfeld as the "administrative staff," who, he said, "swayed" the board.

Homfeld has declined to comment on the charges.

Hood prefaced his remarks by observing that he was impressed with the sincerity of all present; he said he ran for the school board after working on a citizens' committee three years ago.

NOT ENOUGH FACTS

Result of that citizens' committee's work was reduction of a school district-sponsored $850,000 bond measure to $585,000, he said, indicating that at that time the district was not in possession of "sufficient facts."

"I ran for the board at that time," Hood said, "because I felt that the study was incomplete.

"I submit that the trouble of the school district is not a matter to be solved by the bond issue—which I favor—but has been a lack of leadership."

Hood said he could not speak out while a member of the board, because he was a minority member.

Hood's remarks were preceded by those of Jack Davis, treasurer of the citizens' council, who issued a strong plea for united support of the bond issue.

It was followed by a plea from John Merryman, chairman of the council, who said it would be a "terrible mistake" if voters were to confuse their feelings regarding the school board and administration with those toward the finance measure.

Hood, who served on the school district board for two years, resigned last summer

Subsequently, Mrs. Lawrence Klein was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Hood's resignation.

Trustees whose terms of office end this year are board chairman Mrs. Phyllis Campbell and Trustee James Black.

Black has indicated he intends to file for re-election; Mrs. Campbell has said she has not yet decided whether to run or not.

Las Lomitas Eyes School Unification Plan

Las Lomitas School District citizens' council last Thursday night appointed a committee to study possible ways in which that area might participate in a redistricting, with possibility of a unified high school-elementary school agency resulting.

The study was initiated at a meeting which saw John Jorgenson, chairman of the citizens' group since December, resign. He is moving out of the school district.

George Nummy was elected temporary chairman to take his place.

Members of the committee to study possible redistricting are John Worseley, Dennis Woodman, Mrs. Cornelia Smithh, Mrs. John Burton, Robert Rockwell and Martha Merck.

They are to study the tax, financial, legal, educational and political aspects of redistricting, according to committee members.

Also to be studied will be the possibility of zoning modifications in the Las Lomitas area, such as could result in a broader tax base for the support of the area's schools.

Committee members agreed that Greersburg and Portola school district officials should be contacted, with an eye to discussion of possible unification of the three elementary school agencies.

Woodman, in discussing the future with fellow members of the council, said that, in his view, there are three possibilities facing the area: participation in a union district; joining in a unified district of some sort and preservation of the status quo.

MP District Group Splits on Plan, Votes 25-7 for $398,000 Issue

Menlo Park School District Citizens' Council this week prepared to get its campaign in behalf of the proposed $398,000 bond issue into high gear, following endorsement of the plan Monday night.

The council's endorsement was not without debate, however, and at final count seven of the 32 council members present indicated they did not favor the bond issue, on the basis that the school district board of trustees' move to start construction at a Stanford Village site, should one become available, differed from the citizens' group's recommendations.

Richard Barbour and Mrs. James R. Lee were named co-chairmen in charge of the campaign. Barbour is currently signing volunteers to aid in various phases of the effort to return a strong "yes" vote for the bonds on May 20.

OPENS DEBATE

Debate on the bond issue was opened by William Felkner, shortly afte rthe beginning of Monday night's meeting. He moved that the council withhold endorsement of the bond issue, on the basis that it differed materially from the citizens' council's original recommendations.

His motion was attacked promptly by Gordon Weber, vice-chairman of the citizens' group. Weber contended that, since the citizens' committees' recommendations were put forward, the possibility of obtaining a Stanford Village school site had become less remote; hence the district did not have to be content with resorting to an education-diluting program of building more classrooms on Hillview and Encinal school sites.

He pointed out that there would be no alternative "but to start all over again" if the bond measure should be defeated.

Dr. Samuel Thurman joined Weber, and added that, in his view, the recommendations put forth by the school board were, in spirit, the same as those of the citizens' council and the Chamber of Commerce's committee on public education.

Mrs. Janet Tuffli observed that addition of more classrooms at Hillview and Encinal schools would "further dilute the balance of education" available at Menlo Park's schools.

VILLAGE SITE

Lyle Cook, former vice-chairman of the citizens' council and now a lay member, pointed out that if the price of Stanford Village rises appreciably, the district will be unable to purchase land there and will have to reassess its program.

He observed that, as far as he has been able to learn from either school district or Stanford university authorities, land in the Village will not be available before May 20, and the district should be in a position to purchase it if it becomes available after that date.

Discussing adequacy of the Village site, V. M. Babowal commented:

"According to state formulas, five acres constitutes a basic school site for 100 pupils, and an acre should be added for every additional hundred pupils. This means the (7-acre) Stanford Village site will be able to accommodate only 200 pupils (sic)."

"A school there will be substandard the day it opens. Why start it?"

Weber observed, "Maybe we should start out by tearing down all the classrooms at Hillview and Encinal that put the pupil density over the recommended figure."

Mrs. Natalie Gross observed that both Hillview and Encinal pupil populations are well over the 600 maximum recommended by state authorities.

Thurman returned to the argument to point out that the present bond issue only enables the district to buy a Stanford Village site, should it become available.

He was seconded by Chester Himel, himself a member of the staff at Stanford Research Institute, who observed that SRI is predicating a large proportion of its plans on the permanence of the present Menlo Park site as a home.

He added that SRI, like the school district, will be unable to purchase land in the Village if the price rises appreciably.

Harold Cross, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's public schools group, observed that the district has been compared with Palo Alto schools, which are generally kept below 600 pupils in size.

CITES REDWOOD CITY

He pointed out that in Redwood City School District, eight out of 14 schools have a greater pupil density than Menlo Park's maximum (Encinal school, with 81 pupils per acre), and two schools in that city have densities of more than 200 children per acre.

Dr. Russell Kent countered that the district's voters are faced with a decision as to what kind of schools they ultimately want—those observing a maximum, minimum or indifferent standard of excellence.

Felkner's motion was then voted on and defeated by the 25-7 count in a show of hands.

Weber then proposed that the council go on record as supporting the bond issue. This was passed by a voice vote.

Fremont School Remodeling Job Completed

Renovation of two classrooms at Fremont school, bringing them up to specifications of the state earthquake code, was accepted by the Menlo Park School District board of trustees Monday morning. Classes are already occupying the rooms, having been moved from basement instruction chambers Tuesday.

Total cost of the renovation, including realigning of offices and reconstruction of the school's front entrance, was about $61,000, school district business manager John Richert said this week.

Morris Daley Jr. was contractor for the job.

Completion of the new rooms allows cancellation of rental of one room at the Menlo Park First Baptist church, which has been used as a music room, Richert said.

O'Donnell Named To Planning Post

Philip J. O'Donnell, attorney residing at 1035 Del Norte avenue, was Tuesday night appointed to the Menlo Park planning commission, to fill a vacancy created when former planner Vaile S. Andrus was named to the city council.

O'Donnell has been a resident of the city for the past five years. He is a past president of the Flood Park Triangle association.

His legal practice is in Redwood City.

Appointment of the new planning commission member was made by Mayor Charles P. Burgess with concurrence of the rest of the city council.

A Tooth Spoils A Perfect Record

For the first time in more than 10 years, City Clerk Mrs. Margaret A. Becker missed a regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night. She was home, councilmen were told, recovering from a dental operation.

Mrs. Becker has been attending the meetings regularly at least since 1944, according to Mayor Charles P. Burgess. She's only missed one: an informal, one-minute-long affair held at 6 a. m. one morning early in 1949 as the city council moved a resolution for annexation of Belle Haven to the city.

At Tuesday night's meet, Councilman William R. Lawson was named clerk pro tem in Mrs. Becker's absence.

FELLOWSHIP WINNER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

FETED BY ROTARY—Menlo Park Rotary club last week hosted Miss Anne M. Waggener of this city, at their regular weekly luncheon, in honor of the fact that she has been selected as a recipient of a Rotary International Fellowship. Above, Miss Waggener receives a memorial of the occasion from John Chadwick, as other officers of the local group look on.

Facing Dissent:

Sequoia Trustees Move for Vote on $3,975,000 Bond

Trustees of the Sequoia High School district Friday night placed upon the May 20 ballot a bond issue for $3,975,000 over the protest of member Floyd Lowe of Atherton.

Previously, the board had rejected Lowe's proposal that a $1 permissive tax, to run for four years, be put before the voters, to raise sufficient funds to bring the district's school construction up to the school population by the end of that period.

The new proposal, the fourth within a year, calls for the erection of two 1200-student schools. One will be on the Alameda de las Pulgas - Woodside site now owned by the district and the other on the East Palo Alto site now under condemnation.

Included in the issue is also a 240-student wing at Carlmont, more property on that site, industrial art wings at Carlmont and Menlo-Atherton and purchase of more high school sites.

Called "inadequate" and a "compromise" by Lowe, the bonds will fall short of meeting enrollment in 1957 by almost 1000 students. While 8255 students are anticipated in that year, provisions under the new bond will care for but 7260.

PROTESTS

Adding their protests to the bond election were members of the Sequoia Citizens' Council and the San Mateo County Taxpayers association.

Ben Damsgaard, vice-chairman of the council said that he felt the election was "ill-timed," since there will not only be three elementary district bond elections within the high school district on May 20, but parents will better feel "pressure" in the fall, and talk of partition of the high school district has placed all areas in turmoil. Even the "open" post for superintendent to replace Dr. Clyde L. Ogden will have its weight.

Pat Merrick, executive secretary of the taxpayers' association, said that he felt that irreparable damage would be done the school district by a fourth defeat, and that although facilities are badly needed, he feels the bond issue will be defeated.

Ferris Miles, chairman of the board, backing the stand taken by his three fellow board members, said this week that the administration will have to continue to divide the load between all existing schools and the other two when finished.

We will even have to overload then, since we will be 1000 student capacity short, until a sixth high school can be constructed, he added.

To accomplish this there will have to be extra financing in 1957 sufficient to enable us to bring the schools up to capacity and erect the sixth school.

"We feel that the presently proposed bond issue should satisfy the voters as of today. Again in 1957 they will be given the opportunity to voice their approval of a carefully - planned expansion program."

Following is a summary of expenditures, as proposed, detailing how monies from the $3,975,000 bond issue measure will be spent, if it is passed.

O'KEEFE REAPPOINTED TO DISTRICT BOARD

Menlo Park city council last week reappointed Dennis O'Keefe as the city's representative on the board of trustees of the San Mateo county Mosquito Abatement District. He was reappointed in response to a communication from the mosquito abatement agency, stating that O'Keefe's present term has expired.

Sequoia Board Tells Attendance Line Changes

Shifts in attendance lines of the Sequoia high school district, which will mean that Sequoia high school will open with more pupils than its capacity, were announced this week.

The shifts, okayed by the Sequoia district board last week, call for shifting Clifford school attendance area of the Redwood City Elementary School District into the Carlmont area. Selby Lane school attendance area, in the Redwood City district also, will supply students to Menlo-Atherton.

With these modifications in force and with completion of a new wing at Menlo-Atherton expected before the start of the next school year Menlo-Atherton is expected to open with 1994 pupils; its capacity is expected to be 2000. Sequoia, with a capacity of 2400, will welcome 2441 and Carlmont, with a 1500-capacity, will house 1429 as the year begins.

Miles to Run For Re-Election

Sequoia High School District board chairman Ferris Miles, this week announced his intention to file for re-election to the school agency's governing board, in the May 20 election.

The Redwood City trustee, now filling out his first three-year term as a member of the board, told the Recorder that his decision to run is based on three considerations:

1. He does not believe in a heavy turnover of trustees. Floyd Lowe of Atherton, whose term was to have expired this year also, resigned last week and previously announced that he would not stand for re-election.

2. He wants to see the present building program of the district, foundation of which will be laid if the May 20, $3,975,000 high school district bond issue is passed, initiated.

3. He "desires to help the new superintendent get a good start with the district."

The latter was in reference to the fact that Dr. Clyde Ogden, the present superintendent, has indicated he will not want to continue in the post after expiration of his present contract in 1956.

Miles said it is anticipated that the $12,000-a-year stipend presently being paid will have to be raised.

After Years of Preparation:

'Unusual' Shoemaker's Shop Marks A Life-Long Dream Goal Achieved

Realization of a long-held dream is Stefan's Shoe Service, recently opened at 1108 Crane street.

Proprietor Stefan Bortscheller was born as a citizen of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and grew up in Banad, Yugoslavia. At the age of 12, Stefan began serving his apprenticeship in a shoemaker's shop. For four years he studied the trade, with only room and board for payment.

It was in 1926, when he was 16, that Stefan passed his "helper's" exam, having received the qualified approval of a board of old-time master shoemakers. He then went to work as a "helper" for pay—barely enough to live on. But he continued work at the trade . . . and to save from his meager earnings toward the day when he would become a "master" shoemaker and be entitled to open his own shop.

It was not until October, 1933, that Stefan took his examination as a master. The stern board of elders in the trade could find no flaws in his work, and, at long last, he received their official approval.

In 1935 he opened his own shop in Belgrade. But in 1939, Hitler unleashed his fury, and that was the end of the dream for a while.

In 1942, Stefan moved to Germany, and, in 1949, again he opened his own shop in that country.

In May, 1952, with the sponsorship of some Californians, Stefan came to the United States. For a while he worked on a turkey farm near Sacramento. Then for a year he was employed in a shoe repair shop in Orinda.

Then Stefan met some new friends, who recognized a waste of talent and rare training. They agreed to sponsor him in his own shop in this country if he would choose the right location.

Stefan chose Menlo Park.

He and his wife, Christine, moved here March 1 and now reside at 727 Oak Grove avenue.

At last able once more to apply his training, Stefan now offers unusual shoe services in his new establishment.

He will make all types of shoes and riding boots to order, and special orthopedic and extension footwear, as well as doing expert shoe repairing.

In addition, he will make to order anything out of leather—jackets, belts, handbags, wallets, etc.

Master Shoemaker . . . at your service

Stefan learned his trade as a boy in Yugoslavia and Germany. His experience as a master shoemaker here and in Europe qualify him to do the most exacting work you may desire.

'New Regional Resources':

33 Percent Growth in Year Cited in 1954 Annual Report of Stanford Research Here

An average growth of 33 per cent in revenue, staff and physical plant during the last year is indicated in Stanford Research Institute's 1954 annual report released this week.

Applied research as a resource of the West is stressed in the report's introduction by Dr. J. E. Hobson, director of the institute.

Dr. Hobson points out, "The Institute's founders have succeeded in creating a new western resource. By bringing to the West a wide range of scientific capabilities and business experience which have been useful to many clients and which have already influenced the economic vigor of the whole western region, the Institute has functioned as a new resourse of human and technological skills."

The report makes no mention of whether or not the Institute will remain in Menlo Park — a subject now being decided as Stanford university trustees weigh whether or not to purchase the Village area.

But figures given in the report give some indication of the importance of SRI as a factor in the community.

Some 478 research clients used the Institute's services: 297 projects were for private business, 128 for government and 53 were sponsored by SRI as a public service.

At the year's end contract research was being conducted at an annual rate of $8½ million. The total revenue for 1954 was $7,570,000, or some $2 million greater than in 1953.

STAFF GROWS

The staff increased from 674 to 916 during the 12-month period and approximately 36,000 square feet were added to laboratory and office space.

The Institute expanded its regional services with the establishment of offices at Portland, Ore., and Honolulu, Hawaii.

International research activities represented $605,205, or 8 per cent, of the Institute's total revenue during the year.

The report includes a "life history" of a typical research program from inception to conclusion to show how a need develops into a research project and then to satisfactory completion.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Projects in the public interest on which work was done during last year cover a wide range. They include a study of industrial water resources in California; research on human engineering in industry; analysis of gamma radiation of chemical polymers, and a survey of industrial land use in the Portland area.

A major project for the Apache Indians on the San Carlos reservation in Arizona was financed in part by the Indians but for the most part by the Institute. The tribal council asked SRI to study the reservation's resources and make recommendations for their full utilization.

As a public service the Institute maintains the only national industrial depository of unclassified atomic energy documents west of the Mississippi. By arrangement with the Atomic Energy Commission, SRI makes the library available to educational and industrial interests in the 11 western states, Alaska and Hawaii.

The report describes 21 separate projects representative of research conducted in the physical sciences, engineering and economics during 1954.

Citizens' Council Moves to Study Bond Proposal

Sequoia High School District citizens' council Tuesday night decided to continue as a working agency in the community, and reorganized itself to study the present $3,975,000 Sequoia bond issue measure before deciding whether to endorse it or not.

Bent Damsgaard of Menlo Park, vice chairman of the group, said he had been told that figures governing expenditures of funds in the present proposal can be changed, according to high school district trustees. He said that the high school trustees have indicated they will be "open to suggestions" if the citizens' council comes forward with any.

A study group has been set up to go over the high school district proposal. They will meet with representatives of the district's board of trustees and architects.

The study committee will report back to the general membership at a meeting set for April 11 at the Sequoia high school library in Redwood City.

Other study committees set up Tuesday included one to study unification proposals for partitioning the district; a finance committee to study the district's operating budget; a curriculum evaluation committee; adult education program study committee and vocational guidance program study group.

Election of officers of the citizens council will also be on the April 11 agenda.

Troop 151 Scouts Named Champs At Scout-O-Lympics

The Scouts competed as patrol units displaying their skill in signaling, knot tying, bandaging, fire by flint and steel, a mystery relay, and a rescue relay.

Winning first place was Troop 151's Panther patrol which included Tom Berger, Lee Smith, Kent Hull, David Freeman and Billy Bunker.

The Flaming Arrow patrol placed third. Members of this patrol are Stephen Caplan, Jim Innes, Don Innes, David Meland and Mark Hutchisen.

Second place winners were members of the Rattlesnake patrol from Troop 162.

New Civilian Defense Pamphlet Tells Need For Adequate Precautions Against Fire

A new federal civilian defense pamphlet, pointing out that atomic blast can cause fire but containing, also, information of value in the prevention of fire at any time, is now ready for distribution here.

Announcement that the pamphlet is available came from Fire District Chief Thomas F. Cuff, head of the Menlo Park CD council's fire prevention division and John R. Johnston, city administrative assistant. Copies of the folder are available at Johnston's office in the civic center and at Menlo Park Fire District headquarters station, 1077 Merrill street.

"Getting ready for fires is a big part of the civil defense job," the pamphlet points out, going on to suggest some of the things which should be a part of the normal household routine.

"After an atomic bomb explodes, the resulting fires could cause more loss of life and property than the blast itself, the document declares. "An atomic bomb would cause great fires in the area where it fell. It would also start hundreds of small fires in surrounding areas. These smaller fires must be fought by people on the spot, because regular fire fighting companies may not be able to reach them."

The Menlo Park Fire District has in the past conducted several classes for auxiliary firemen, as a part of their civil defense training program. Information can be had by calling fire district headquarters, DA 3-4848.

SEE TRAINING NEED

"At least one member of your family must be trained in the use of basic firefighting tools and methods," the document continues. "Women are at home all the time. It is particularly important that they know how to fight fires."

Continuing with language familiar to the Menlo Park Fire District's regular fire prevention program, whether or not the atomic bomb is considered, the pamphlet points out,

"The majority of all fires start in trash piles, rubbish, or stored odds and ends that accumulate around the house. Closets, attics and cellars are the main source of home fires and plain ordinary good housekeeping is a strong line of defense against them.

"Fire hazards in peacetime become doubly dangerous in wartime. Check your closets, attic, and basement for cast-off articles that would burn."

Other items which might contribute to the danger of fire in the home include faulty wiring, an unsafe heating plant, or carelessly stored volatile fluids, the folder continues.

$50 Fire Damages EPA Residence

An estimated $50 worth of damage resulted at the William E. Payne home, 1224 Camellia drive, Monday morning, when a blanket put over a lamp overheated and took fire.

Menlo Park Fire District firemen reported the blaze was out within minutes, and the house itself was not damaged.

WHAT'S DOING
J. E. Gordon, your Telephone Manager in Menlo Park

Cable "doctors"—they roll out day or night

Fortunately, this scene isn't common. Telephone cables can usually be fixed in daylight. But once in a while, on the quiet streets here in town, you'll see cable "doctors" taking care of an emergency at night. For along with policemen, firemen, and the like, telephone people help keep the night watch while the rest of the community sleeps. Operators, testmen, and repairmen are on the job throughout the quiet hours. Indeed, one of the big values of your telephone service is that it never rests. Your telephone is ready to serve you whenever you need it, 'round the clock. Pacific Telephone works to make your telephone a bigger value every day.

OLD STORIES

———o———

The Recorder files for 25 years ago this week — as you will see if you look at the regular feature elsewhere on this page — reveal that at least two of our present-day local problems are nothing new.

Last week and this week we have been receiving "letters to the editor" regarding destruction of trees in the area, and protests over removal of the venerable giants along Sandhill road have made news recently.

Twenty-five years ago, too, trees were coming down to clear the path of "progress." At that time, from the tone of the news article, the loss of the trees apparently was outweighed by joy over the prospect of more adequate highways. Then, too, as now, traffic congestion evidently was a headache.

The oaks of Menlo Park always have been one of its greatest assets. We are told that Lord Vancouver rode through this area in the early days of white settlement and reported in his diary that the party traversed a beautiful plain, studded with majestic oaks, which reminded him of the royal hunting parks in England.

(In passing, we can't overlook a dig at our neighbors by pointing out that Vancouver further told of leaving this lovely plain, then crossing a creek with steep banks and continuing southward through a noxious swamp that mired the entire party. Guess where that was?)

The gnarled old trees of this region long have been our trade mark. Once destroyed, they cannot be replaced; it takes many generations to grow such beauty. Efforts such as the city's tree-planting program, worthwhile as they are, merely dilute the appearance of our native and natural oaks with numbers of "foreign" but faster-growing trees.

As the oaks come out for "progress" one by one, and as we replace them here and there with such beautiful, but unnatural specimens as magnolias or (shudder) palms, we are gradually approaching the day when we will have lost to our community the last specimens of our own, traditional oak.

It behooves us to give serious thought to the planting of young oaks wherever we can so that future generations can enjoy at least a sample of that beauty we so freely destroy.

And by all means, we must do everything possible to save every one of the giants that we can.

We admit the difficulty of preserving those that get in the way of arterial highway links — such as the widening of El Camino 25 years ago. But where they stand on building sites or parking lots or in the way of residential-area streets, Spare That Tree! In most cases, the extra effort and expense will prove more than justified in beauty preserved — and in higher property values.

———o———

TIT-WILLOW!

"On a tree by a river a little bird sat, singing 'Willow, tit-willow . . . .'"

And we venture to say that the little bird so sadly singing by the banks of San Francisquito creek could well be bemoaning the incorrigible, short-sighted stupidity of the human beings who have scuttled plans designed for their own benefit: viz., the Willow road link with Sandhill.

It will be difficult to get any route legislated into the state highway system at this session of the state legislature, says Assemblyman Richard Dolwig. It will be impossible, he says, without approval of the state division of highways, and the division won't approve the Willow route without local agreement.

Before the Palo Alto city council got panicky over the possibility that the road might take a little Palo Alto property and withdrew its previous policy favoring the link in general terms, such highway-division approval might have been possible.

Now, with the fuss that's been kicked up, state engineers are perfectly aware of the bear trap they would be stepping into, and they have enough troubles of their own without voluntarily seeking new ones.

It would probably be eight years before the road were built in any case, Dolwig continues. So now we go back to where we were before; everyone fully aware of the need for the road, but without much hope for doing anything about it in the next 10-15-20 years!

The Palo Alto Chamber of Commerce proudly announces it is calling a new series of meetings to discuss the route. Hurray — except that there is nothing new about it.

These discussions have been going on for at least six years to our knowledge, and, so far as we can see, have brought no two of the five or six jurisdictions involved to agreement.

There are only two sides to a creek, and the only way you can compromise between them is to swim up the middle. Maybe we could all agree to put the creek in a culvert and drive over the top?

In the meantime, before any plan can be brought to realization, we'll all be up to our stubborn ears in traffic congestion.

"Tit-willow!"

NOW WE KNOW

It was recently stated by a local economic expert of renown that even a major national depression would not seriously set back the growth of this area. Too many people waiting to move here, he said.

With the weather of the last few days, we again know why. Ho-hum, Alfred. Fix us another lemonade.

Your City's Business:

Special Census Pays Off

By MAYOR CHAS. P. BURGESS

The city council has voted to have another special census taken of Menlo Park's population. This has been a profitable enterprise in the past, as Menlo Park's share of state gasoline tax and motor vehicle license fees has thereby been increased.

Our first special census was taken in June, 1945, and gave us a total of 4182 inhabitants, an increase of 28 per cent over the 1940 regular census total of 3258.

Then we took a census in April, 1946, just 10 months later, and our population had risen to 7180, up 72 per cent in the period. During this 10 months Dibble hospital had been annexed, and accounted for a substantial part of the increase.

No more special censuses were taken prior to the regular decennial census in 1950, at which time our population, which included then the Belle Haven and Suburban park annexations, almost doubled at 13,587. In 1951 the Willows, formerly known as North Palo Alto, came into the city. In 1953 the council determined upon another special census, which was taken in February.

Population then was found to be 22,003, or 62 per cent over the population found in 1950. It also represented a population almost seven times that of 1940 and 10 times that of 1930.

Since the 1953 census there have been no important annexations, but almost 750 dwelling units have been constructed in our city since that date. This means an increase of something close to 2400 persons, using an average of 3.2 to the dwelling unit, our 1953 census average. This figure may vary somewhat because of fluctuations in Stanford Village and the Veterans hospital.

The cost of the 1955 special census, which must be taken by the Federal government if it is to be valid for apportionment purposes, is placed at about $3500. If the estimate of population increase of 2400 is correct, it will mean an increase of state tax apportionments of about $18,000 per annum, so it should be well worthwhile.

One-half of the motor vehicle license fees and five-eighths of one cent of the gasoline tax are allocated to cities by the state. The money is divided among the ciites in proportion to the ratio of each city's population according to the last Federal census to the total city population of the state.

On the basis of a population of 22,003, Menlo Park last year received $65,259 from the gasoline tax, and $101,625 from motor vehicle license fees, a total of $166,884, or $7.58 per capita. As our entire property tax of 73 cents per $100 produced only $173,245, it is obvious how important these state subventions are to our city, and how important are these special censuses.

Your New Neighbors...

One family of newcomers to the area and three who are moving to new nighborhoods are reported this week through the Menlo Park-Atherton Board of Realtors.

Tibbits is an attorney, associated with the Anti-Trust division of the Justice Department in San Francisco.

25 Years Ago:

Roads Uprooted Trees Then, Too

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that, 25 years ago this week, the following items, here reproduced exactly as first published, were news in the young community:

March 21, 1930:

"Many improvements are being made in the highways of the Peninsula by the State Highways Commission, the most important of which are probably in the immediate vicinity of Menlo Park.

"Work of widening the E Camilno Real to San Antonio road is progressing as rapidly as can be expected and a large crew of men is working just south of Menlo Park. All of the large trees on both sides of the high way have been pulled up by the roots, a big tractor being used for the purpose. Preliminary work looking to the widening of the bridge is being done and the stores near the bridge on the west side of the road have been moved quite a distance.

"A crew of men is also busy at East Palo Alto and Ravenswood, moving houses, uprooting trees and otherwise preparing for actual work on the Bayshore highway unit that runs from Redwood City to the Embarcadero at Palo Alto. With the completion of this piece of roadway San Mateo County will have two good highways connecting with San Francisco . . ."

A new self - service laundry has been opened at 504 Santa Cruz avenue, it was announced by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Powers, proprietors of the new facility.

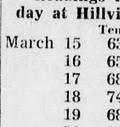

The most recent addition to Menlo Park's business community is designed to provide complete laundry service, they announce, and is capable of handling all laundry up to and including shag rugs of 9-by-12 foot size.

Equipment at the Depot Laundromat includes 16 Westinghouse laundramat washers, as well as dryers.

"Patrons of our new store," Powers observed, will appreciate a great saving in clothing budgets, particularly in children's clothes, because they may be washed and worn in the same day."

A BITING REPLY

Walter the weathermouse was wearing overalls, when he walked into the office this week.

"Ah!" we exclaimed approvingly. "Going to work at last?"

"Yes," admitted the weathermouse. "The time has finally come that I feel I must. . . .

"Good!" we interrupted, enraptured. "To feel on your hands the naked soil of honest toil! To breathe the free air of a self sustaining cog in the great engine of productive society!! To know the satisfaction of a job well done!!! To be able to congratulate yourself, at the end of a busy day, on an honest labor!!! Ah, though at times you may be weary and your step may falter from fatigue, though on occasion your drooping limbs may cry, 'enough!' and prompt you to seek sweet solace in the arms of Morpheus. . . . "

Our voice trailed off and we desisted because Walter was looking at us as if he thought we were a little ineane. He was chewing a toothpick.

"It's really not that bad," he said. "My job's an essential one, though. Punching holes in cheeses

Fire District Gets Rebate on State Insurance

Menlo Park Fire Protection District commissioners Monday night were presented with a rebate check totaling $4643.87 from the State of California compensation insurance fund.

A letter which accompanied the rebate, from fund manager J. J. Gallager, attributed the saving, amounting to 59 per cent of the year's premium, to the "active participation in accident prevention displayed by the employees of the Menlo Park Fire Prevention District and from the continued teamwork between district officials and the state compensation insurance fund."

Commission Chairman C. Vernon Barker termed the check a "more than welcome" surprise in view of the expenses anticipated by the district as it plans to move into its new headquarters building now under construction.

Chief Cuff reported also to the commissioners that the completion date of the new station has been delayed until sometime after the middle of April.

It was announced also at the meeting that Commissioner Barker has been appointed by the county board of supervisors to serve for a future three-year term, becoming effective April 11.

The commission was further informed that 18 district firemen last week completed an advanced course in first aid, while a week previously all officers in the district had renewed their certificates as first aid instructors.

Discussed also was the possible construction of a new substation in the East Palo Alto area. The site for the building at University avenue and Runnymede was purchased for the purpose several years ago.

The commission was reminded, however, that plans for the construction would have to wait until the fiscal year's budget is approved by the county board of supervisors which will not be until July.

EMERGENCY RADIO

Editor, the Recorder:

I read your article in last week's Recorder, about CONELRAD Radio Stations. I have a little radio that can be put together with things found around the house and I thought your readers would be interested in knowing how they might make one of these receivers in case an emergency left them without their radio. This radio will work almost like a crystal radio. Following is a list of parts that will be needed:

1. Cardboard cylinder from roll of tissue paper.
2. Safty razor blade.
3. Large safety pin.
4. Thin copper wire.
5. Four thumb tacks.
6. Pencil.
7. Nails, three.
8. One piece of wood—like the end of orange crate.
9. Head phones (can be purchased for $1.20).

First:

Secure wire to one end of roll leaving about 2" over end. Wind wire around roll about 120 times, making sure the wires don't overlap. Secure the other end of the wire to roll leaving 2" over this end. Next, secure the roll of wire to the board with two thumb tacks.

Drive the two nails in the board about an inch from each end of the roll. Connect both the wires coming from the roll to the two nails.

On the other end of the board attach the razor blade with two tacks, one on each side of the razor blade.

Run another wire from the nail on the other side of the roll and connect it to one head-phone wire.

Take a big safety pin and twist the head, ¼ turn, then bend it up and away from the point. Attach the safety pin to the board by putting a nail through the hole in the head of pin. Make sure that the point of the pin is about ¼" above the razor blade.

Get a piece of pencil lead about ½" long and glue it to the point end of the safety pin so the lead will touch the razor blade. Next run a wire from the head of the safety pin and attach it to the other headphone wire. Pound all the nails and tacks into the board.

We are now ready to test our set by moving the lead end of the pin slowly across the razor blade until a station is heard. Since all stations will be off the air in case of an emergency, the set will pick the CONELRAD broadcast.

MORE ABOUT TREES

Editor, the Recorder:

After reading the letter submitted last week by Bruce Waybur regarding the unfortunate removal of oak trees in our town, I would like to add my words in support of the writer's views.

Menlo Park has long had an oak tree for its city seal design—and not without reason. Since earliest days we have been blessed in this area with many beautiful trees. If things keep on as they are Menlo Park will soon become just another stereotyped cement city without charm or character.

Why is it that the mere possession of an oak tree can add from $50 to $1000 value on our property? This is a practical estimate by real estate men and the United States government.

Why, too, are some of the most attractive shopping center those which have preserved as many of these trees as possible and incorporated them into the over all plan? We think immediately of the Menlo Square shopping area here in town—and of others in Palo Alto and Los Altos.

On the other hand—do we want to end up with the type of thing which is ridiculous and even repugnant to a native or a long-time resident? We speak of the shopping area where some well-meaning "easterner" imported the deep South Pacific type of wind-swept palms to dress the places up in his idea of a "California" scene. In our area, so rich in native oaks and redwoods, these displaced palms have a vaguely obscene appearance.

Above all, do not let us repeat the tragedy of our neighboring Stanford when some of the best specimen trees in the area were bull-dozed out of the scene forever.

Susan E. Gale

AND MORE

Editor, the Recorder:

Does progress connote destruction?

I am not a resident of University Park, where the owners and residents of that area are soberly and sincerely concerned about the destruction and desecration that is about to take place there in order to provide an arterial to a shopping center on the Stanford property. Progress to some engineers and planners seems to carry with it wanton waste and destruction especially some of the natural resources. Some of the finest and most inspiring trees on the Stanford campus are about to become victims of dynamite and the ax. Just go see for yourself, if you haven't already, what engineers and planners, for so called progress, accomplished when they wrecked and destroyed completely and utterly, every vestige of beauty on the famous Mills estate in Millbrae. IT MUST NOT, but I am afraid it will, HAPPEN to one of the loveliest and choicest residential areas adjoining the Stanford lands.

Highways and roads certainly are necessary in this automobile age, but engineers, planners and trustees MUST KNOW that there is still plenty of land available for the Willow-Sandhill extension, without viscious and wanton destruction of everything but just the bare earth.

I want to express my pleading voice to you Mr. and Mrs. Reader and to those who have authority, to help preserve and perpetuate natural beauty and wonder, whenever and wher ever it is threatened. Such destruction of trees as that which threatens the University Park area MUST BE PREVENTED if the natural beauty, which is such an asset to our Palo Alto, Stanford and Menlo Park areas, is to be preserved.

ABOUT BONDS

Editor, the Recorder:

In February '54 the voters of SUHSD, unwilling to compound the progressive extravagance which had marked the successive building of Menlo-Atherton and Carlmont High Schools, refused to sanction the $3,200,000 bond proposal for a fourth high school on a previously acquired site at Woodside and Alameda. This, like Menlo-Atherton and Carlmont, was to be 1500-student capacity; but, unlike the others, it was to be built for eventual expansion to 2000 by the addition of class-rooms only, the expansion to cost $1230 per student. The school was to cost $3,000,000: i. e. $2000 per student. M-A at that time had cost $2,424,546.37; a spectator type gymnasium and pool (Bldg. T), subsequently completed, cost $421,273.50. The aggregate, for 1500 students, is now $2,845,819.87: $1897.21 per student. The expansion by 500 to 2000 capacity, now nearing completion, is costing $204,329.47, or $408.66 per student. M-A at 2000 will have cost $3,050,149.34, or $1525.08 per student. Carlmont, despite the experience on M-A, with double-sized corridors and inexcusable costs in using a poorly-chosen site, was completed in one splurge, at a stated cost of $2500 per student, or $3,750,000.

To expand Carlmont's capacity to 2000, as has been lately proposed, at the rate of the current expansion to M-A (viz. $408.66 per student; as compared to the $1230 of Feb. '54, or the $622.50 of Sept. '54), would cost only $204,329.47; or, allowing for "difficulties of site," the $240,000 previously estimated for the identical M-A expansion. Sequoia, with its 40 acres, could easily support a 500 expansion, at the lower figure. To install two Industrial Arts shops at both M-A and Carlmont, as advocated, would give an additional student station capacity of 300 at each. Each I.A. room would cost, at the Sept. '54 estimate, $121,000 equipped; a total of $484,000. This non-appropriated expansion providing 1600 more student capacity should cost not to exceed $950,000, bringing the SUHSD high-school-student capacity up to 7100; or, by the provision of 700 extra lockers, an actual enrollment of 7800 could be accommodated, since the Average Daily Attendance is but 90% of the enrollment—thus 700 of the 7100 student stations (seats) would be unused daily. Actually, the last available Plant Utilization Report, Mar. 1954, for Sequoia, shows for the then enrollment and utilization of its 78 class-rooms for seven periods of the day, 139 room-periods unused daily out of 546—three over a fourth. Of the seat use in the first third of these rooms, of the 5779 student stations available therein in the day of seven periods, 2976 were assigned or used; 2803 were not. Part of this is due to the fact that for the bulk of the students but four hours daily of class-room work is required or provided. During the war Sequoia had an enrollment of close to 3000.

The relative merits and validity of the two conflicting reports on projected student enrollment for the next five years, available since 1952 but only invoked for the last two bond proposals, will be discussed in a subsequent communication. Accepting the most realistic one, the proposals in the preceding paragraphs will meet the need to include the school-year '58-'59 without addition-high-schools and their high non-teacher overhead for administration and operation. The further high-school program need will be discussed on the basis of the recent hysteria sparked by "Fact, Figures and Consequences" which were but biased projections, assumptions, and plain mis-statements.

J. R. N. Weaver

. . . AND PROJECTIONS

Editor, the Recorder:

Legally refused in the elections of December '54 and March '55, the Sequoia District's high school expansion project with its implementing bond proposal for $6,250,000 was based on an alleged student capacity need of 9453 by the Fall of 1958. This was stated as a fact in the so-called "Facts, Figures and Consequences" brochure covertly sponsored by Sequoia Citizens' Council for Public Schools, or rather by the twenty members who, on 15 Sept. '54, repudiated the considered action of the executive committee within the preceding week by voting for the recommendation to the Board of Trustees, SUHSD, resulting in that body's action three days later initiating the $6,250,000 program.

The critical 9453 figure was a projection culled from the two-year-old study by Drs. MacConnel and Kent of Stanford School of Education at the behest of the Trustees, SUHSD, and best supporting their pretensions. This projected enrollment in the District's high schools by the Fall of '58 was arrived at by adding on arbitrary 6% increase annually for four years to each of the four grades throughout the District which will have moved into its high schools by Fall of '58. The more realistic report and projection of Wise Associates, Specialists in City Planning and Urban Economics, equally contemporary and available, was considered but disregarded by the study committee. Actually, by that committee's own report, the actual high school enrollments for 1952-53 and '53-'54 had been more validly anticipated by Wise than by MacConnell-Kent. Both authorities accepted the experience of past several years showing that the Belmont-San Carlos end of the District was static as to enrollment progression increases. The increases were anticipated in the south end of the District.

Using the same figure for the north area for both projections, MacC-K projection of SUHSD high school enrollment, Fall of '58, is 9455; the Wise projection is 7412; for Fall of '61: Mac-K, 13993; Wise, 9054.

The feasibility of providing an enrollment capacity of 7800 by expansion of the three existing high schools alone, within a minimum period and at a foreseeable cost of under a million dollars, was established in the communication of 19 March. Accepting the eventual need of the fourth high school to meet the '61-'62 potential or probability, it is pertinent to review the recommendation on 10 Sept. '54 of the Executive Committee, SCC for PS, referred to in the first paragraph, and the then authentic architect's estimate for the "average quality, 800-student capacity high school, master planned with basic facilities making it expandable up to 2000-capacity by the addition of class-rooms only, as needed." The overall estimate for this school was $2,019,947. For $450,000, at current construction rate (the M-A expansion) the 800 capacity could be increased by 1000 for a new aggregate of 9600.

This plant, according to the Wise Associates, should be on the Woodside-Alameda site, serving the area of present and potential greatest growth. Incidentally the East Palo Alto area lately under consideration was the last recommended for new high school service, from the point of potential need, and projected plant.

The entire expansion suggested above could be completed for $3,500,000 conservatively, or well within the newly adopted bonding project of the SUHSD Board; and on a scale tolerable to our economy, our needs, our liabilities.

The two windows which are being installed in the sanctuary this week, and which are to be dedicated next Sunday, will dramatize in the first window the "Calling of the Disciples" and the "Sermon on the Mount;" and in the second the "Agony in Gethsemane" and the "Crucifixion on the Cross."

Christian Science Lecturer Here

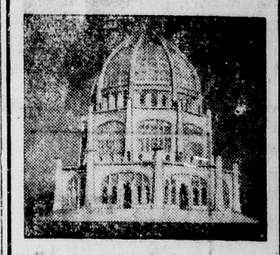

That the true understanding of God confers upon man the divine authority to heal the sick in His name, was the message presented to a Menlo Park audience Thursday evening, March 17, by Ralph Castle of San Francisco, lecturer on Christian Science.

Castle maintained that Jesus of Nazareth performed his mighty works not through human will or a purely personal power but by the power or authority of God; that the spiritually-minded prophets had even earlier discerned and utilized this same divine power to some degree.

He said the same eternal power of God can be discerned and utilized today for both the healing and the regeneration of mankind.

Castle spoke under auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in the church edifice, 201 Ravenswood avenue. His subject was "Christian Science: Healing by the Power of God." He was introduced by Mrs. Harriet Wood, second reader.

Menlo S&C Athletes Take Time Out for Vacation

By PAUL LAZARUS

This week is one of vacation for the Menlo college and high school athletes and though the coaches welcome the week of relaxation, they shake their heads when they think of the disruption to conditioning and team progress, whether it be an individual sport such as track or swimming or a team sport like baseball.

Take Bo Molenda's Menlo Oak track squad, for instance.

Some semblance of conditioning was just around the corner with the season opening a week from Saturday, when the approach of vacation was heralded with much levity and thoughts of a week at Balboa beach in Southern California.

It all adds up to boating, swimming and moonlight, a combination of which has never been much of a contributor to the track and field sport.

The Menlo squad will have a week to regain that muscle tone before a road trip to Monterey for a triangular meet with Monterey and San Jose JC. So far the team looks to be average with the only outstanding performer being Rich Babka from Palo Alto.

Babka looped the disc out 148 feet last year but this year has been consistently over 150 feet and should be one of the outstanding performers in this event in Northern California whether it be colleges or universities. He's also pushing the shot out around 48 feet, which should be good enough to take a few firsts in the Coast conference competition.

It's an all freshmen team for Molenda. The sprints will be handled by Charles Bromiach and Ball who are 10 flat potentials. Olsen who is capable of 51 flat or slightly better is the leading quartermiler while Steve Payne is the top halfmiler.

Roger Stevenson who ran a 4:28 mile for Palo Alto last year seems to be running more for exercise this year and isn't expected to get below 4:35 unless the post-vacation period brings a more intensive effort. Wick Wickersham and Bob Golobic are the chief hurdle candidates.

In the field besides Babka Menlo has Mike Preaseau in the high jump, a 6-1 potentian, and Zweig in the pole vault who topped 12-6 in high school but who has added weight this year and his maximum is at this point problematical.

Menlo high's track squad surprised a Sequoia team with an easy 69-44 victory. The Cherokees thought a few reserves should be used so the defeat wouldn'a be too humiliating but Bob Howe's lads had too much ability.

Harry Boyle and Tom Lagerquist were double winners for the Acorns. Boyle took the sprints with a 10.4 in the century and :22.5 in the 220 while Lagerquist captured the shot with 44-10 and the discus with 121-4, about four feet below his practice best.

The B squad won, 44-33, in a meet with 10 events instead of the usual 13.

The 'Champs'

Meanwhile, the big event of the week and one which made pouter pigeons out of millions in the West was the tremendous NCAA con quest by the USF Dons. Even the firmest admirers of USF underestimated the nation's best quintet.

While the Dons were accorded No. 1 rating in the basketball polls conducted by the news services, the fans do realize that these weekly ratings aren't always pustified. However, Coach Phil Woolpert's boys proved their right to this ranking and gave West Coast basketball a tremendous boost.

Those east of the Mississippi always looked disparagingly on western basketball and the preponderance of publicity from the east gives the impression that the teams playing the Chicago stadium and Madison square are invincible.

The Hilltoppers led by the sensational Bill Russell, a less heralded K. C. Jones and the all around performer Jerry Mullen smashed the eastern pride so thoroughly that it even shocked us in the west.

As good as LaSalle's Tom Gola has proved himself over three seasons' play, he was badly overshadowed Saturday by Russell and Jones. And Colorado added the final shocker with a thundering victory over the best of the Big Ten, Iowa, by 21 points. This was the same Colorado team that dropped two out of three to an ordinary California Bear team and one to UCLA in the hothouse at Westwood.

Fighting '49ers

There's still one team playing in California, though, the fighting 49ers who go into their last three games with a nine and nine record. Modesto Friday, Chico April 1 and Danville on April 9 remain on the schedule for Bill Johnson's hardy crew.

A mixup in the schedule last week really posed a problem for Johnson. He was a bit surprised to find two games scheduled for the same night but the 49ers came through with a pickup team that lost by only five or six points. Bob Toneff, Al Carapella, Merle Flatley and J. R. Boone joined Bill Wilson in the game at Gustine while the other six campaigned at Petaluma.

On the 'Farm'

Stanford's track team gets its first dual meet action of the year Saturday at Fresno against Fresno State. Northern California's best track squad tallied 90 points to 38 for the Olympic club and 35 for the Santa Clara Youth Center in the track opener at Stanford last Saturday.

Most pleasing in general were the sophomores Bernie Nelson in the hurdles, Frank Hermann in the broad jump and Phil Fehlen who tied Norm Jiles at 6-5 in the high jump. Walt Garrett blazed a :47.9 in the 440 for the top performance on the track.

John Bugge and Bob Kimball threw the javelin around 209 feet but couldn't qualify for the finals against the Club quartet of Bud Held, Cy Young, Leo Long and Dick Righter, the best four javelin throwers on one team in the world.

Stanford's swimming team will have seven men represented in the NCAA championship at Miami Beach this weekend. They are Larry Heim, John Weiser, Ron Grunt, Colburn Wilbur, Dan Osborne, Dough Ackerman and Tom Burton.

Meanwhile, the Stanford baseball team after three games during the week against Oregon and Oregon State opens CIBA play against USC at Los Angeles this weekend.

Menlo's golfer of the week was Dr. Taano who came up with medalist honors in the annual Stanford club championship with a one-under-par 70. Lyle Gray is defending champ.

Large Audiences Hear Pianist With Symphony

Large audiences heard the twin concerts presented Friday and Saturday by the Peninsula Symphony orchestra under the direction of Aaron Sten.

The program which featured pianist Leah Effenbach playing Beethoven's "Emperor Concerto" drew outstanding critical acclaim and was said to have shown the orchestra's good progress under Iten through the past six years of its existence.

Selections by Mozart, Smetana, Tschaikowsky and Cimarosa made up the varied musical fare for the program which was presented Friday evening at Sequoia high school auditorium in Redwood City and San Mateo high school auditorium in San Mateo.

Among the local area musicians who played in the 65-piece organization of trained non - professionals were Jack Case, concertmaster, and June Case, violins; Frances Fisher, viola; Maurine Stowe, principal 'cello; George Cawthron, flute, and D. C. Perfumo, bassoon, all of Menlo Park.

Beat Hahn of Stanford played violin and William Vansandt of Woodside played French horn. Two East Palo Alto musicians were Betty Anne Peterson, violin, and Edmund Silverbrand, viola.

The orchestra will present the final pair of concerts for the season Friday and Saturday evenings, May 20 and 21.

Varsity Baseballers Face San Mateo; Nine Takes Shape for April 1 PAL Circuit Start

Menlo - Atherton's varsity baseballers, still wandering around in pre - PAL competition, hosts San Mateo - today beginning at 3:15 p. m. on the local diamond.

The north county group, with a considerable number of years of baseball behind it, is rated as a tough customer — if, indeed, Coach Howard Costello's youthful charges manage to come out ahead at all.

On Tuesday the Bears lost, 6-5, to Carlmont there. In a closie all the way, the Highlanders managed to pull a two-run triple into the outfield in the last of the seventh, to ice the game.

Local pitcher Larry Miller pitched six innings, holding the hosts to four runs on two hits. Seven errors afield got the major blame for the loss, however.

Bob Mathis, with three safe hits in four trips to the plate, was the standout hitter for Menlo-Atherton. Dohn Bogue, who relieved Miller for the seventh, was charged with the loss.

Costello, meanwhile, indicated that his boys are beginning to settle down into a semblance of a ball club, with some of the heavier assets working pre-season kinks out of their muscles and pitchers getting more eagle - eyed all the time.

In fact, things have improved to such a point, Costello indicated this week, that his pitchers will rotate starting assignments for the next few game. Parry Miller will get the call today; Bill Brodie will take over as starter on Friday and Dohn Bogue will get it on Tuesday.

A "big stick" in the outfield appeared to have developed in the person of Troy Ratliff, who has worked up to a .500 batting average, as of early this week.

In the final outing of last week, Brodie pitched the locals to a 3-1 victory against Santa Clara, with Brodie pitching a two-hit game to keep the mission city crew under control.

When Costello's crew takes to the diamond today, Leon Finegold will be behind the plate. Other starters will be Tom Calloway, 1b; Don DeFeo, 2b; Bob Wendell, ss; Bob Mathis, 3b; Troy Ratliff, lf; Lew Thomas, cf and Al Robinson, rf.

April 9:

GIRLS' DAY

Something new is being organized for girls by the Menlo Park recreation department. On Saturday, April 9, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Burgess gym will be closed for a special girls program.

All girls of sixth, seventh and eighth grade ages are invited to take part in this sports program which will include basketball, volleyball, ping pong, tumbling, softball and trampoline.

If this program is well attended, it may turn out to be a regular feature of the recreation department according to Gayle Allinger, who will be in charge.

School Hoop Play Ends With Finale

A goodly crowd of schoolmates all but took over Burgess park gym Saturday morning, to watch Menlo Park Elementary School league basketball teams exhibit their prowess in a series of short games which marked the close of the season's play.

Winners of the free throw contest included Bill Wright, Oak Knoll school fifth grader; Marty Christiansen, Encinal school sixth grader; Frank Lee, Encinal school seventh grader and David Lang, from the eighth grade at Encinal.

Trophies were awarded to the "free throw" winners, as well to to top teams in loop play.

Games played saw Oak Knoll and Encinal fifth graders tangle, as did Fremont and Hillview teams. For the sixth grade, the same schools furnished competition; in the seventh, Encinal and Hillview and Oak Knoll and Las Lomitas tangled and in the eighth grade, Encinal and Hillview once again had at its and Las Lomitas and St. Joseph's quintets met.

No scores were kept after the games; consequently, everybody was a winner.

League play was co-sponsored by the Menlo Park school district and the Menlo Park recreation department.

In regular season play which closed a week ago, Encinal school teams swept the seventh and eighth grade circuits, with no defeats in two rounds of play.

Meet 'Strong One':

Frosh-Sophs Face San Mateans In North County Game Today

With more mixed results behind them, Menlo - Atherton high school's frosh - soph baseballers meet San Mateo there this afternoon hoping for better luck than accompanied them on their Carlmont outing last week but figuring that a repeat of the score against Sequoia could be considered satisfactory.

Coach Stan Bettencourt's legions appeared during the week just past, to have put together some sort of a hitting game. They got 11 runs across against the Cherokees and lost to Carlmont when winning pitcher Rockhold, called from the dugout especially for the event, managed to hold them to the bottom side of a 7-6 score with a no hit, no run inning.

During the day Menlo-Atherton got three hits against the strongly-defending Highlanders. Big stick for the locals was Sherman, who knocked in two runs with one single.

Don Powell, the losing pitcher showed a bit of wildness but came through with good results: At the end of four and a half innings, when he was relieved, he had eight strikeouts to his credit and had allowed but one hit and one run.

Jerry Reed showed himself to be no second-rater as far as pitching was concerned when he faced the Cherokees last Thursday. In four innings on the mound he managed to strike out 12 Injuns. Pitcher Dick Sanchez, however, was credited with the win.

In today's game, Bettencourt plans to start Reed on the mound with Mike Mirsky behind the plate. Others in the starting lineup include Jim Finegold, first base; Bill Adams, 2b; Bill Walston, ss; Hal Turner, 3b; Jim Sherman, lf; Charles Dahl, cf and Ray Pancharian, rf.

Dinner Honors:

THE ATHLETES

An estimated more than 120 Menlo-Atherton high school athletes will be feted by the Menlo-Atherton Dad's club, as the group sponsors its thrice-a-year awards banquet.

To be honored will be boys who participated in basketball, cross-country, water polo and wrestling.

Carl Sundquist is chairman in charge of the affair; H. E. Mokler is the secretary.

The gathering is to convene at 7:30 p.m. and, according to Mokler, fathers and daughters will be welcome as well as fathers and sons.

Tickets are available at the main office of Menlo-Atherton high school.

MAHS Cindermen Host Sequoia Here Tomorrow

Menlo - Atherton high school's track team, apparently getting better all the time, was to meet Sequoia here tomorrow afternoon and had high hopes of coming up with a win.

Coach Don Dorfmeier's speedy Bear varsity just about pulled a win out of the fire when facing Palo Alto last Thursday, but got edged in the final event of the day to drop the meet.

The B's did better, winning 85-27 and the C's lost, 40-28.

Nevertheless Friday's meet showed some pretty astonishing possibilities:

Tom Blackwood ran the 880 in 2:03 minutes and Alan Sundquist, of the class B's, managed to get off a 20-foot, 8½-inch broad jump.

Meanwhile, just to show that everybody's welcome, Dorfmeier points out that nobody is dropped from the track squad if they fail to make a "first string" somewhere along the line.

Intersquad time trials are regularly held at the Menlo-Atherton oval on Wednesday afternons and, with three men in each event, changes in track team lineups might appear advisable on short notice.

Then too, strategy on the field is a little more complicated than one might suppose. Placement of runners and jumpers in the several events depends not alone on their speed, but on how much they're depended on in races yet to be run.

Thus far, Dorfmeier adds, the entire crew has remained healthy and interested and is improving all along the line.

Next meet following Friday's will be run Tuesday against Willow Glen.

May Yet Be Challenged:

Menlo AC, Preuss, Still on Top of City's B Basketball League at Start of Week

Menlo AC and Preuss pharmacy quintets continued to battle for the B basketball league's title this week, and last night G-C Liquors had a chance to get back into the loop's top spot.

Going into last night's games, both Preuss and the AC had seven wins, two losses. But G-C upset the AC in an earlier round of play, thereby gaining a temporary foothold in the championship fight and might well do so again.

Preuss pharmacy's five, meanwhile, might well have been taking things easy. Last night, their competition came from Moffett Field's VR-3 squad—a team which has had more downs than ups in the ups and downs of the current league.

In games played last week, the AC-men held onto their place by downing a luckless 16-40 club, 28-25; Pruess got by Moffett Field 43-39 and G-C Liquors got 36 points while the still win-less Johnny's Smoke shop aggregation put together one of its better ball games and racked up 33 markers to make a contest out of the meeting.

Third game to have been played last night was to have pitted Johnny's against the sailors, with observers holding small hope that the smoke shoppers would do better than come close.

Meanwhile, the league's three top scorers continued adding to their totals, and shifting a bit in the standings. No-one, however, was close enough to break into their record column.

Don Clark, as of the beginning of the week, had 114 points to his credit; Clarence Kavaugh, 107 and Bob Crane, 100.

The standings ,prior to last night's tip-off:

Team	W	L
Menlo AC	7	2
Preuss	7	2
G-C Liquors	6	3
Moffett	4	5
16-40 Club	3	6
Johnny's	0	9

Casting to Start On New Play

The board of directors of the Menlo Players Guild announced this week that the final play of the season will be "Therese" by Thomas Job. The play originally scheduled, "Ladies of the Corridor," by Dorothy Parker and Andre d'Esseau will be postponed, for technical reasons, and will be presented as the opening play in the fall.

Open public tryouts for "Therese" will be held on Monday and Tuesday, March 23, 29 at 8 p.m. in the Burgess park Little theater, Menlo Park. Jerry Le Grand, the new director for the Menlo Players Guild, announced that there are roles for four men and four women.

"Therese," a suspense drama that has never heretofore been presented in the Bay area, is based on a noval by Emil Zola called, "Therese Paquin." Thomas Job, the playwright, is well known for the play, "Uncle Harry," written before the war. "Therese" was seen on Broadway in 1951 with Eva LeGallienne and Dame May Whitty in leading parts.

Persons interested in any phase of theater are welcome to attend the tryouts next Monday and Tuesday. The play will be produced on May 13, 14, 20 and 21.

'Via Flaminia' Is EPA Current Play

To help provide the more intimate feeling necessary for a production "in the round," Judith Dresch, director for the Ravenswood Players' current production, "The Girl on the Via Flaminia," is using the smaller music room at Kavanaugh school, rather than the auditorium normally used for such events.

The play, opening Wednesday, March 23, at 8:30 p.m. and continuing Thursday and Friday, is being presented on a low platform stage at one end of the room, with the audience seated on three sides of the stage. The set according to Mrs. Dresch, consists of a dining room and bedroom. The action shifts from one room to the other with the aid of lighting effects.

The play, by Alfred Hayes, dramatically and accurately tells the story of the conflicts and tension which arises when a starving, high principled Italian girl meets an American GI, lonely and away from home.

Tickets may be procured at the box office or reserved by phoning DA 4-0924 or DA 3-7821.

Softball:

CALL RENEWED

The call for managers and team representatives of class B softball nines who wish to participate in Menlo Park recreation-sponsored play this spring and summer was reiterated this week by Stan Sexton, who will be in charge of the activity.

As things now stand, Sexton said, plans call for making the city's field at Nealon park available for use by softballers several nights a week. Lighting is good and the turf will be put into shape before actual play gets underway.

But meanwhile, he said, it's necessary for teams to make themselves known. This can be done by contacting him at Burgess park gym, DA 2-1727.

Sexton reiterated that teams may register from anywhere, regardless of place of residence of team members. Registration fees will be kept low, and will only cover the cost of officiating.

Area Youth Called By Jr. Yatchsmen

A junior yachtsmen's group—as yet unnamed—was formed following a recent meeting of some 50 teenagers, small fry, parents and interested adults at the Palo Alto Yacht club.

The youthful area sailing enthusiasts put forth an interim slate of officers and chose as advisors Mr. and Mrs. John W. (Mickey) Elwood Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. A. T. (Lou) Lundgren, all of Menlo Park, and Alex Burnette and Earle Eldredge of Los Altos, all Yacht club members.

Next meeting for the group has been set for 2 p. m. April 30 at the club. El Toro dinghies will be demonstrated in the waters of the Palo Alto Yacht harbor, and tyro sailors will be given instruction in the boats.

Anyone interested in the new organization is invited to attend.

String Ensemble Plays at Fremont

Encinal school double string quartet is to provide the music at a Fremont school student body assembly, to be held tomorrow at the school.

Members of the instrumental music group include Lana Legallet, Libby Bell, Kendra Palmer, Rosie Beam, Mary McGee, Jean Kamita, Virginia Gardiner and Patti Brown.

Limbering Up:

Baseball Clinics Open This Week at MP Elementary Schools as Season Draws Near

Menlo Park Elementary School District's young baseballers—some with an eye to the coming summer's Little League and farm team play—this week began participating in the school district-city recreation department sponsored baseball clinic program at the schools.

Just about every interested boy from fifth through eighth grade age will be participating in purely "clinical" activities during the next few days. Intersquad games are to start March 28, however, and league games will be started, for Saturday mornings, for older players and during the week for the younger ones, during the week of April 11.

An all-star game will be featured at the close of the season, Rec. Department supervisor Stan Sextion and Lew Knights, rec superintendent for the school district, revealed this week.

Clinical subjects which the young players will undertake include throwing, including pitching and infield and outfield throws; fielding of all varieties; the various techniques of batting and base-running and simple strategy, such as signals, squeeze plays, force plays and double play situations.

M-A Swimmers Tour to Jefferson For Meet Today

All three divisions of Menlo-Atherton high school's swim team journey to Jefferson high school this afternoon, to see if they can do better than they did last Thursday afternoon against Palo Alto's Aquavikes.

Coach Tommy O'Neill rates the Jefferson crew as a strong one, and not comparing them with Palo Alto's squad doesn't give out any predictions as to what he expects the local fortunes to be.

Actually, he said this week, the locals have a pretty fair looming team. Jeff Pinto, B freestyler who has been out of competition for the past couple of meets, is still away as it Al Raynal, also sidelined.

Pete Anderson, who turned in the fastest PAL backstroke time recorded this season against Paly, will be one of those to take to the water today also.

Today's meeting will be sort of an anticlimax because next week the Bears have three meets in three days. Next Wednesday, they'll tangle with Fremont; on Thursday they'll host Burlingame and on Friday they'll meet Ray Lyman Wilbur's team at the new Palo Alto high school.

Audubon Tour Is Set for Sturday

The public was this week invited to join in the Sequoia Audubon society's annual trip to Butano creek, to see early blooming wild flowers in the Peninsula's mountains. The tour will leave the junction of Skyline boulevard and Half Moon Bay at 8:30 a.m. Saturday for the tour. Jed McClellan will lead the tour, and advised patrons to dress warmly as Audubon tours generally include a good deal of standing around observing nature, rather than extensive physical exercise.

Modern Dance Show Set at Stanford

STANFORD (Special)—A comic donkey cavorting on the stage, jazz rhythms and primitive-type movements, and impressionistic studies will be part of the annual spring concert to be presented by Orchesis, student modern dance club, at Stanford university.

The program, open to the public without charge, will be presented in Memorial hall April 1 and 2 at 8:15 p. m. Orchesis is sponsored by the Women's Athletic association.

O'Neill to Instruct At New SPA Pool

Coach Tommy O'Neill, who will mentor Burgess park pool's swim team next summer, last week announced that he will also join the coaching staff at the new Greenmeadows pool in South Palo Alto during the same season.

He will work with Stanford Swim Coach Tom Haney during the season. Meanwhile, he said, early classes are to get underway when the pool opens April 5; sign-ups will open Saturday.

CHARTER REVIEWS

Charter reviews of several Live Oak district Boy Scout units will be held at Central school, beginning at 7:30 p. m. next Monday night, it was announced this week

Area Girls Place In Oakland Swim Tourney

Peninsula girls proved good competition recently in the indoor far western swim meet held at the Multnomah club in Portland, Oregon, March 12 and 13. Among those participating, as members of the Santa Clara Swim club, were Mary Mahaney and Sue Lampman, both of Atherton.

The Santa Clara team took second place in the meet on a "high point" basis, although there were only eight representatives of the squad at the meet.

Miss Mahaney took three second places—in the 100 yard, 250 yard and 500 yard freestyle events.

The Santa Clara A relay team (Lampman, Balch, Haakinson, Mahaney) although placing second in the 400-yard freestyle relay, broke the existing record of 4.16 with a time of 4:13.8.

How they placed in some of the other events:

250 Yard Freestyle—2nd, Mary Mahaney, 2.58.6; 5th, Julie Haakinson, 3.02.2; 6th, Sue Lampman, 3.04.2.

100 Yard Freestyle—2nd, Mary Mahaney, 1.02.4; 5th, Sue Lampman, 1.03.0; 6th, Sandra Balch, 1.05.0.

500 Yard Freestyle—2nd, Mary Mahaney, 6.28.3.

400 Yard Medley Relay—4th, Santa Clara "A" team (Lampman, Doll, Mahaney, Haakinson). Time, 5.09.2.

Oak Knoll Parents Volunteer To Buy Trees

A group of Oak Knoll school parents last week volunteered to supply funds necessary for the purchase of a group of flowering crabapple trees to be installed around the kindergarten play enclosure at the school.

The trees were planted this week. The type chosen was Arnold's crabapple, which features pink flowers. It is small and hardy, and requires no special care, according to members of the group.

Those who helped purchase the trees included Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kent, F. W. Knowles, L. Klein, Howard King, C. D. Yaggy, Marian Smith, W. E. Johnston, James Lee, D. H. Bartelt, J. O. Whiteley, W. Additional volumes of the 25-volume set, total value of which is set at $100, then may be purchased during successive weeks for 99 cents with any purchase.

In conjunction with the program, the food chain and the publishing company will offer prizes including $500 in cash, a $250 scholarship, and 10 honorable mention awards to winners of a letter contest on "How an Encyclopedia has Helped Me."

Letters, limited to 250 words or less, should be mailed to Lucky Stores Encyclopedia Contest, P.O. Box 844, San Francisco 1. The contest begins Monday, and deadline is midnight, April 17. The contest is open to any northern California resident up to 21 years old.

GARDEN CALENDAR WEEK OF MARCH 24

Old clumps of chrysanthemums should be divided now. The side shoots can be used, or cuttings made from the new growth. 3-4 inche lengths root quickly in sand. Chrysanthemums are important commercially in this county and grow easily here. They should do well for you.

* * *

A little special attention will make some cut flowers last much longer in the house. Put camellia branches in cold salt water.

Rub the stem end of iris with wood ash, let stand five minutes and then put in cold water.

Dip the stems of roses in boiling water two minutes, then in deep cold water.

JAYCEES HEAR TALK ON HYPNOTISM

Jay Haley, research associate of the research project on schizophrenic communication at the Menlo Park Veterans' hospital, specializing in hypnotism, discussed mesmerism and hypnotism in general, before a joint meeting of the Menlo-Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce and wives of members Tuesday night.

The gathering was held at the Marie Antoinette.

With pruning shears in hand this time of year, you can either prune, shear or renovate.

Pruning involves cutting back branches anywhere from an inch to a foot or more.

Shearing means the removal of ½ to 1 inch of the ends or tips of branches. This is done to boxwood, privit hedges, etc. Renovation means cutting back old, too tall shrubs—perhaps as far down as 1-3 feet above ground.

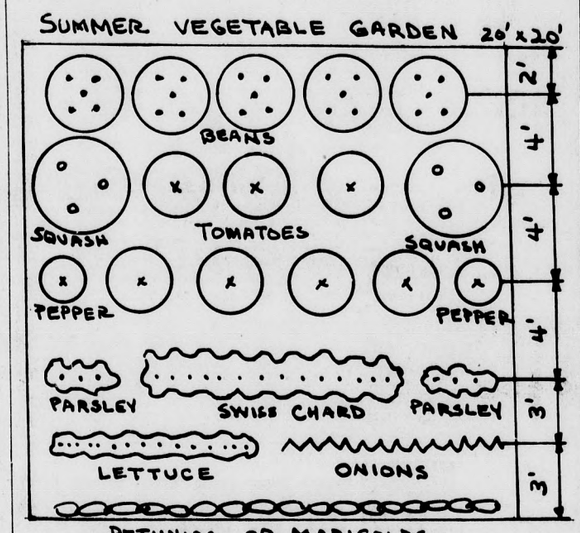

* * *

The San Mateo county crop report shows artichokes, brussels sprouts, lettuce, squash and New Zealand spinach as important vegetables.

Flowers include calla lily, chrysanthemums, heather, iris, daisies, stock, strawflowers and violets. All grow easily in the back yard, too.

* * *

Established trees that have sparse or bad colored foliage may need a feeding. Make holes in the ground with a crowbar—spacing them 2 feet apart and 18 inches deep in three circles, two feet apart, starting at the outer reach of the branches. A complete chemical fertilizer should be put in the holes and covered with fine soil. A fair application is one pound per each inch of circumference of the trunk at ground level. Keep the tree well watered several weeks to prevent burning.

RIGHT IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD—Here's a good, workable garden layout that will insure your family a well-rounded supply of garden truck during the coming months, if planted in the next few weeks. —Terry Lee sketch

Moliere's 'Imaginary Invalid' To Be Spring Play by Menlo-Atherton High School Cast

Central staging and student designed costumes are but two of the things which help set apart the Menlo - Atherton Players' club's production of "The Imaginary Invalid" by Moliere to be presented March 25 and 26 in the multipurpose room at 8:30 p. m.

Borrowing an idea from the early Greek theaters, central staging will be the main feature of the play. That is, the action will take place in the middle of the auditorium with 200 seats on risers set around it on all four sides.

The plot of the comedy, set in 1673, concerns Argan, who thinks he is constantly ill and takes all sorts of medicines. He tries to persuade his eldest daughter, Angelique, to marry Thomas, the son of a doctor, because he wishes to have a doctor in the family, but she is already in love with Cleante.

The maid, Toinette, knows more about the situation than anyone else, so she decides to try an experiment.

The costumes of the play were designed by a student at Menlo-Atherton, Walt Bullard, and made by the members of the costumes committee.

Members of the cast are: Marshal Caley as Argan; Marleen Balough at Toinettee; Rhoda Maxfield as Angelique; Sue Fogle as Monsieur Fleaurant, the apothecary; Jo Booth as Argan's wife, Beline; Sue Hall as Madame de Bonnefoi, the notary; Dick Parks as Cleante; Richard Meredith as Thomas; Jerry Hynes as Monsieur Diaforus, the father of Thomas; Jeanne Rich as Louison, Argan's younger daughter; Davir Schofield as Beralde, Argan's brother, and Garth Stevick as Monsieur Purgon, a physician.

STAFF

The play is under the direction of Stanley Dorfer of the drama department, and Carol Blake is assistant director. Mickey Pierce and Ramona McIntosh are prompters.

Walt Bullard is chairman of the costume committee, Marjorie Hirsch is head of props; Hubert Pate is in charge of the set; Sue Arnold supervises make-up; Lynne Silverman heads the program committee; Freda Karns is in charge of tickets, and Ann Bartells is in charge of publicity.

Fred Stark is lighting director; Mary Ann Eldridge is stage manager; Mickey Pierce holds the post of house manager, and Garth Stevick is technical director. — H. B.

Jaycees to Host District Meeting

Menlo - Atherton Junior Chamber of Commerce will be the host to the district 15 meeting to be held Tuesday, March 31, at the Marie Antoinette hotel. The gathering will mark the first of the newly formed Jaycee district, and business portions of the evening will be devoted to the consideration of candidates for the vice presidency of the group.

Bob Boedikker and Dick Puntigam are to be co - chairmen for the affair.

Last Tuesday night's meeting of the group was a joint one, with wives of members attending. Entertainment chairman Frank Crowhurst was in charge for the evening.

THE HARRY LOVELL family of 224 Terminal avenue now includes among its membership a son born on St. Patrick's day.

TO PARTICIPATE IN 'DANCE CARAVAN'

NANCY LEE WALKER of Menlo Park, Constance Wernett and Elaine Seagrave of San Carlos will take part in the ballet number, "Conquest," during next Sunday's "Dance Caravan" to be presented at Palo Alto high school under the auspices of the Little House.

"Caravan" Comes Sunday To This Area

Arrangements are all in order now for the Dance Caravan to be "parked" Sunday at Palo Alto high school auditorium under the auspices of Little House, senior service and recreation center in Menlo Park.

Tickets for the dance program, slated for 2:30 p.m., may be obtained at Little House, 800 Middle avenue, or at the door. Further information may be had by calling the center at DA 3-1787.

Director of the Dance Caravan, Lillian Dibelka Keber, has been assoicated with the San Francisco Opera Ballet and was premier danseuse of the Pasadena Ballet company before moving to San Carlos. She also designs costumes —all those used Sunday are of her creation—and does choreography.

Another of the dance cast members is Nancy Lee (Mrs. Richard) Walker of Menlo Park, whose numbers have been a stellar artraction at the annual Peninsula Volunteers show. One of our outstanding area dancers, Mrs. Walker will perform a specialty act called "Golfer's Dilemma" and will appear in the trio ballet number, "Conquest," at Sunday's performance.

Elaine Seagrave of San Carlos will offer an Hawaiian act entitled "The Cockeyed Mare."

Panhellenic Announces Lunch Date

Now that Spring has definitely arrived, plans are afoot for the annual luncheon of the Palo Alto area Panhellenic, to be held this year on April 19.

Mrs. Eugene Andres, who was voted the Most Distinguished Citizen of San Jose for the year, will be guest speaker at the event, choosing as her topic "Panhellenic trends."

Mrs. Andres is past national president of Kappa Kappa Gamma; third vice president of the district PTA; first vice president of the Community Welfare committee of Santa Clara county; member of the board of the Visiting Nursing association and also teaches school in Campbell.

Reservation for the luncheon, to be held at 12:30 p. m. in the First Methodist church of Palo Alto, may be made with the chairman, Mrs. L. N. Duryea of Los Altos, 680 Arrowwood court, WH 8-6844.

Assisting Mrs. Duryea are Mrs. Henry Kinsell of Menlo Park and Mrs. Arnold Applegarth of Palo Alto.

The area Panhellenic has also announced that invitations will be out the latter part of April for the Mother-Daughter tea. This year's event for senior girls is to be given at the Palo Alto home of Mrs. Frank Crist on May 14. All graduating coeds and their mothers from Menlo-Atherton, Mountain View and Palo Alto high schools, as well as Castilleja, are welcome.

Card Party Benefit

A card party (including bridge, canasta and other games) to benefit the Unitarian Women's alliance Service committee will be held at 7 p. m. Saturday at the Menlo Park home of Professor and Mrs. C. L. Lewis, 68 Yale road.

Reservations may be made by calling DA 4-0867.

'HIGH STYLE' FOR VERY YOUNG SET

MODEL CHILDREN—Willie Breeden with his mother, Mrs. John R. Breeden of Menlo Park (left) and Anne Carver, standing by her mother, Mrs. Douglas Carver (right) are among the 50 young models lined up for the Retarded Children's guild fashion show next Wednesday. The show will feature clothes from Eve Young stores, and tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Robert P. Richards, ticket chairman, 1321 Hobart street, Menlo Park; DA 5-5993. Fellowship hall of the First Methodist church in Palo Alto is site for the 3 p.m. event. —Recorder photo

Blossom Motif For AWVS Fashion Show

A birthday party is being planned tomorrow evening at 8 p. m. in Rickey's Studio Inn. The Palo Alto unit of the AWVS is celebrating its third year of monthly fashion shows which benefit the "Haven" at Veterans' hospital and the Servicemen's center on Santa Cruz avenue.

The colorful shows given by the group have become a "must-attend" event of the month. Theme for this month's show is "Beauties in Blossom," and the accent will be on the latest ideas of spring attire.

Mrs. Burt C. Kendall of Menlo Park will commentate the show, with the following beauties parading on the models' ramp:

Mrs. B. W. Lorenz, Mrs. William Deitchman, Mrs. Theodore Von Berckefeldt, Mrs. A. J. Ornstein, Mrs. Charles Hitchcock of Menlo Park, Mrs. Robert Barrett, Mrs. Gilbert Richards of Atherton and Mrs. Vincent Klevesahl.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. David Harris of Menlo Park, chairman, Mrs. J. R. Guild Jr., Mrs. John Gossett, Mrs. Norman Bourke, Menlo Park and Mrs. Mike Aboud. They will present blossoms to all ladies attending.

The backstage crew comprises Mrs. Harold W. Starr, Mrs. Edward Hazen and Mrs. Harold Santos.

The public is invited to attend this admission-free event.

Nick Collins To Marry Oregon Girl

Tropical flower leis tagged with the inscription "Sue and Nick" recently revealed the engagement of Susan Leilani Ralston of Lake Grove, Oregon, to Nicholas P. Collins of Menlo Park, both students at the University of Oregon.

The leis, sent over from the Islands by Sue's mother, were distributed to 50 friends of the bride-elect who attended a dessert party at her sorority house, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Ralston, Sue (who was born in Hawaii) is in her junior year at Oregon. She has one sister, Lois Ralston.

Nick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin G. Collins of Yale road and brother of Sharon Collins, a Menlo-Atherton senior, was graduated from Sequoia high school and is now in his senior year at Oregon where he is majoring in psychology. His affiliations are with Theta Chi fraternity.

Upon his graduation from university this June, Nick is to receive a commission as second lieutenant in the marine corps. He and Sue have made tentative plans already for an August wedding.

Says Jeanne Ward, Recent Newcomer:

"Cidade Maravelhoso"--Rio de Janeiro-- Indeed the City of Breath-Taking Beauty

(Editor's Note: Jeanne Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Ward of Menlo Park, returned recently from her assignment with the United States Embassy in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Below, she recalls some of the beauty and customs of our South American neighbor.)

By JEANNE WARD

It was difficult to leave Rio de Janeiro, Cidade Maravelhoso (Marvelous City)—the city of breath-taking beauty.

After having lived and worked there for two and a half years, it seemed like home. In a way it was home, with the "family" at the Embassy and our many friends, American and Brazilian, in the city or suburbs.

With Embassy girls constantly coming or going, the locale and personnel of our apartments were changed several times. I lived in two apartments in Copacabana, and finally moved out to Ipanema —a quieter and cooler section of Rio, where I stayed more than a year.

What a lovely place that was! The apartment overlooked the ocean and we could see the waves break on the white sand as we sat and watched a particularly lovely sunset or saw the moon come up out of the sea, making a broad path of molten gold in the inky black water. The nights, laden with the fragrance of jasmine, are so warm that wraps are virtually unnecessary.

Just before I left Brazil, Rio celebrated its annual Carnaval—the three days preceding Lent.

The main street, Rio Branco (white river), was gaily decorated, and stands had been erected in the praca and on the steps of the city library for the judges to better view the floats and "escolas de samba"—groups of dancers who practice for months in the hope of carrying off one of the prizes.

INTO CLUBS

Most of the long-time residents in Rio say that Carnaval is not as it used to be, since much of the festivities are going into private clubs.

There are still the "blocos," groups who nightly sing and dance in the streets, plugging their favorite song to popularity. About 10 numbers are selected annually as the official Carnaval songs, so it is important to bring these new songs to the attention of the public as long before as Christmas.

Menlo Park PTA Volunteers Write "Finis" To Three Months' Work on Flat Picture File

A battalion of hard working mothers, representing each of the four PTAs in Menlo Park, can look back now on a job well done.

The task they took on, under the general chairmanship of Hillviewer Mrs. Raymond E. Chappell, was the building up of a "flat picture" file to be used as a part of the school district's classroom instructional program.

From a donated collection of Life, Time, Holiday and many other magazines the mothers chose various articles appropriate for classroom use, and mounted them on a cardboard. The file is being kept at Central for ready reference by all the schools.

Working since January, each PTA sent a quintet of volunteers for their day of the week, so that scissors and paste pot were kept busy Tuesdays through Fridays. Serving with Mrs. Chappell on the project were Mrs. Mark Nelson, Encinal PTA chairman; Mrs. Calvin Yaggy, Oak Knoll, and Mrs. Harold Nelson, Fremont.

Some of the articles the mothers ran across, according to Mrs. Chappell, were most interesting. For example, she cited one writer's prediction of 1969 when atomic power would be utilized; there would be super highways and even subdivisions in Yosemite.

As a sidelight, Mrs. Chappell noted the broadened scope of Life magazine throughout the years, and the steps which advertising has taken in improved campaigning. Many of the periodicals contributed dated back to pre-war '30's.

For their help in assembling the file, Mrs. Chappell thanks all the PTA volunteers, and expresses the hope that this will be a yearly project for the mothers.

Bride-Elect Susana Moore Feted at Weekend Shower

It was a busy weekend for bride-to-be Susana Moore who was honored with a shower event on Saturday afternoon and on Sunday entertained, with her family, the Neil Porters of Fresno, her fiance's family.

Susana has chosen May 16 as the date for her marriage to James Neil Porter, USA; her two attendants will be Jim's sister, Jean, and Dorothy Ellen (Dee Dee) Moore.

Mrs. John Pilling, the former Marie Casey, was hostess for the miscellaneous shower at her Palo Alto home. Susana's favorite colors of yellow and white were used in the centerpiece of daffodils and garden flowers on the tea table.

Guests included the prospective bride, Miss Susan Gale, her aunt and Dee Dee, her sister. Mrs. Neil Porter, Jim's mother, was present for the occasion, as were Mrs. William Casey and Mrs. Larry Johnson Jr. (Peggy Casey).

Long-time school friends included Mrs. Robert Afmell of San Jose, Miss Lorna Strickland, Mrs. John Fischer, Miss Carol Frank and Mrs. Mack Forbert (Rita Noney).

Gifts were received from Mrs. Joseph A. Scaroni Jr., Susana's sister, and from Miss Frances Maher, who were unable to attend.

The Gale family home at 417 Glenwood avenue was the scene of the dinner which served to introduce the families of the engaged pair.

Jim was on leave from Fort Ord for the occasion when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Porter, his sister, Jean, and young brother, Johnny, were present, having driven up from Fresno. The Porters spent the weekend with friends in San Carlos where they had made their home for 17 years before moving to the valley.

Among the others present were Mrs. David H. Moore, mother of the bride-to-be, Miss Susan Gale, Mrs. Harry Doughty and Mrs. Dorothy Redding, Susana's aunts, and her uncle, Walter Gale.

'Grand Piano' Cake, Pretty Chapeaux Spark Birthday Fete

According to Shakespeare, it's "Sweets to the sweet," and in Francine Territo's case this included a birthday cake Saturday shaped exactly like a grand piano, even to the miniature keyboard (Francine's mother, Mrs. Frank Territo, says she carefully avoided the obvious—little candelabra).

Edith Ann Tovrea, a neighbor of the Territos', lent her hand to the birthday festivities by creating 20 lovely spring bonnets for the guests out of pastel paper plates and cups (brims and crowns), bits of veiling, bunches of artificial flowers and colorful ribbon.

Guests at the party were also entertained by the Menlo Marionettes.

Helping Francine celebrate her eleventh birthday were Phoebe Hauff, Shelby Donnelly, Kathy Seybold, Marianna Kennedy, Jari Bennet, Rochelle Malley, Carol Davis, Joan Sieck.

Susan Towne, Barbara Adams, Mary Jo Jensen, Ann Brinton, Lynn Downey, Susan Larson, Irene Foss and Joanne Foss.

Beverly Kinsell Wed Saturday At Stanford Memorial Chapel

A mid-afternoon marriage ceremony at the Stanford Memorial church united Beverly Grace Kinsell and Wayne Danielson on Saturday.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smyth Kinsell of Santa Barbara, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Henry Kinsell Jr. of Menlo Park, her sister-in-law. Suzanne Kinsell, a niece from Santa Barbara, served as flower girl.

The new matron wore a ballerina length wedding gown of white lace, styled with a Basque bodice and pleated skirt. Her bouquet was made of white roses, stephanotis and freesias.

Mrs. Kinsell and Suzanne wore ballerina length frocks of ice green taffeta and carried masses of spring flowers.

Henry Kinsell acted as best man for the bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Danielson of Burlington, Iowa. Ushers were Dr. Seybert Kinsell, the bride's brother from Santa Barbara, Paul Deutschman, James Brinton and Edgar Rosenberg, all of Stanford.

Following the 3 p. m. rites, 150 guests gathered at the Marie Antoinette hotel in Menlo Park to felicitate the newlyweds. When the couple return from their honeymoon to Carmel, they will take up residence in Palo Alto.

The bride is a student of Stanford; her husband is a graduate of the State university of Iowa now working at Stanford on his master's degree. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi and Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternities.

To Rummage Sale:

DRAG(ON)

Once upon a time there was a dragon named Archie, who was weighing the problem of how to dispose of his household goods —of course, for this he had to use his scales. And what would he exchange all his belongings for? Why a fairy princess.

So Archie packed his overknight bag, and galloped off to Central school auditorium to look for fairy princesses at the sale being held there tomorrow and Saturday.

The Junior class at Menlo-Atherton high school, sponsors of the sale, are expected to welcome Archie and his furnishings with glee, because the money they raise will go toward their Junior Prom on May 28.

P. Gilsenan, project leaders, will also touch on main dishes which can be frozen, as well as soups, sauces, salads and desserts.

Coffee will be served, and child care provided during the 10 a. m. to 12 noon session. Anyone wishing further information, may call latter's annual show in New York.

AT their last meeting, the Woodside-Atherton Garden club took pictures of outstanding floral arrangements to submit to the Garden club of America for the either DA 3-6448 or DA 3-9822.

Oak Knoll Brownies Plant Three Trees

These handsome trees have showy yellow flowers in April, followed by interesting seed pods. They were bought with troop funds, and express the interest of the Brownies in nature and their school.

Mrs. M. V. Musy's Troop 288 has offered to purchase a tree for the second courtyard when it has been graded.

PROGRAM committee for Girl Scouts will meet at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the Scout office.

Announcement Received Of Unique Survey On Mental Retardation

Word was received last week by Carl Landman of Menlo Park president of the Parents association for Retarded children of San Mateo county, that a unique survey in the field of mental retardation has been announced by the National association for Retarded children and the Association for the Aid of Crippled children.

The two national organizations (the San Mateo county group is a member of the former) are cooperating to make possible a review of what is being done to determine the cause, prevention and treatment of mental retardation.

Dr. Richard L. Masland, who will conduct the survey, explained that it will attempt to assemble information already gathered in several fields, and turn it into a comprehensive investigation of known work.

The local parents' association meets regularly on the third of each month. Sessions are held at 8 p. m. in the First Christian church of Redwood City, 2124 Brewster street, and all interested persons are welcome.

Around Our Town:

Naw 'Kit' Boat Has Been Added To Kennedys' Camping Gear

By MAGGIE MOORE

One Menlo Park family is going to have a wonderful summer ahead if present plans carry through. The main reason for it all began last October in the garage of the Eugene K. Kennedy home on Olive avenue when Gene opened a box and took out the parts of a boat.

It's impossible to count up the hours he spent on the "Sport Runabout KD Boat Kit." Through the winter months it took shape, and was launched a couple of weeks ago.

The 14-foot boat has been fitted with an outboard motor and has its own trailer so that the Kennedys can take her along to whatever water spot they choose.

WIDER RANGE

Ruth and Gene Kennedy and the three little Kennedys, Thomas, 8, Michael, 7, and Ann, 6 years old, have enjoyed many a camping trip, and the acquisition of the boat will mean an even wider range of activities and places to visit.

Gene Kennedy, an attorney, loves his sports. He hunts and fishes, skis, swims, golfs and now has become interested in water skiing. Hence, he is interested in boats.

His family follows right along with these interests. For the past three years Ruth Kennedy's freezer has contained deer meat from excursions Gene has taken with another attorney and neighbor, Carl Hulse. She joins in the other activities and the children are learning to swim, and even fish, themselves.

'JUST MADE IT'

Thomas has a knowledge of swimming and soon young Michael will take a Red Cross class at Menlo-Atherton. Children have to measure 42 inches from chin to toes for this, Ruth says, and "he just made it!"

The children have caught fish at the small ponds where trout have been planted especially, but just last summer Thomas caught his first "wild" fish.

The Kenedys usually try to camp where swimming facilities are available, Ruth told us, but now they'll be looking for spots where their boat can go along. They have been taking trips to possible areas to check on possibilities and Monterey, for sure, will be one of their destinations this summer.

RENO AREA

Tuesday Ruth and Gene left for skiing in the Reno area with plans to see what facilities were at the camp sites around Lake Tahoe.

Assisting Gene during the winter was his next door neighbor, William Gray. The directions and the pre-fabricated parts went together fairly easily and the boat took a trim shape. This was even though Gene was not a typical "Do-It-Yourself" builder and knew little about any form of carpentry.

Difficulties did arise, however, when the boat builders put the fiberglass covering on the outside of the boat. The directions were pretty general at this point and troubles had to be reckoned with and overcome.

LIKE YARDAGE

It seems that the fiberglass came just like yardage and had to be cut out and then fitted on the boad and secured with resin. Work had to be done very quickly, otherwise the resin hardened immediately and with the wrong effect. A too heavy application of resin left Gene the job of sanding the ripples it caused, for instance.

Still, the project was completed and the boat had a lovely appearance. White paint was omitted, because the Kennedys like the beautiful appearance of the mahogany plywood from which the boat is built.

Ruth says that her main job was to keep the children out of the garage while the building was going on and — more especially — when it wasn't. Very proud of their Daddy's accomplishment, the young Kennedys loved to show it to all their neighborhood chums.

TOP DECKS

The top decks were finished with redwood stain and a kind of "pepper and salt" colored plastic paint finished the inside of the boat. Seat cushions of kapok double as life preservers when arms are slipped through special tabs on the sides.

Having their own boat won't entirely eliminate trips to waterless areas, however.

The Kennedys have visited Death Valley several times and hope to make the trip again—perhaps at Easter time when all the desert wild flowers are out. Another favorite camping spot is at "Hell's Half Acre" near Strawberry lake and Pinecrest in the Sierra Nevada range.

SUMMER MOTTO

For all of their trips during the summer while the children are out of school the motto is, "Where we go, they go." This must be modified during the winter.

All in all, the Kennedys have found that their camping trips and excursions with the children have added greatly to their enjoyment of life.

Ruth does admit that she was hesitant to get into the spirit of it all at first. Her training as a graduate nurse gave her strong scruples about living in the wilds without many conveniences. Now, however, she loves it as much as the rest of the family.

NEWS FROM ABROAD

TWO FORMER ATHERTONIANS—Barbara and Allan Hale—are pictured above as they receive awards for completion of one phase of skiing instruction. The youngsters, children and Mr. and Mrs. Elkins Hale, have been in school in Switzerland for the past couple of years, and during part of December and January took skiing lessons at Kitzbuehl, Austria, one of the well known ski resorts. The Hales formerly resided in Lindenwood, but Mr. Hale was transferred by Pan American Airways to London, England, for three years. While living here, Barbara attended Menlo-Atherton high school and Allan, Encinal.

Edith Auschoff, After Happy Visit in EPA, Is Back Home in Germany

As eleven-year-old Edith Auschoff winged her way across the United States to New York this month, she gazed upon the wonders of mountains and valleys, rivers and lakes, high land, low land, sunshine-drenched, rain-pelted and snow-blanketed land for the third time within three months.

No doubt there was a catch in Edith's throat, not only for the beauty of this land foreign to her, but for the parting with her grown sister, Mrs. James Munill of East Palo Alto and the many friends she made while attending the fifth grade at Kavanaugh school.

When Edith was just a baby, her pretty, blond fifteen-year-old sister attended a dance in Bremerhaven, Germany, and there met GI Jim Munil! of San Francisco, California, United States of America. Although Edith perhaps was too small to know what was happening, to the young couple it was love at first sight.

When Edith was four, she and her mother, Rosa Auschoff, said farewell to Cato, who at 17 set sail across the Atlantic Ocean on the long journey to the other side of the New World to become the bride of her GI of the 355th division in San Francisco.

No doubt Edith heard through letters how disappointed Cato was at first with her new country. She had left just before the Christmas holidays, with the happy family gatherings and the subdued white lights of a quiet Christmas behind her. Christmas eve found her in Reno midst glaring multi-colored lights, gay revelers and nary a sign of the peace and devotion of the Christmas she had left.

However, Edith and her mother knew soon enough that the new Mrs. Munill was not only adjusting to her new way of life, but was a happy wife and mother.

As each year passed, both Edith and her mother became anxious to see Cato and her family and each year a small sum was put aside. Finally, last year, just before Christmas, Rosa and Edith set sail, even as had Cato, across the Atlantic to the foreign shores. From there they took a transcontinental plane across the 3000 miles that remained and were met by the overjoyed James Munills and their three children, Butch, 6, Bobby, 5, and MaryLou, 16 months. Together the reunited family celebrated a quiet Christmas together.

At the first of the year Edith entered Kavanaugh school.

Although she knew little English, she found many friends among her classmates, and like children do, established communication without too many words.

For the next few weeks a wonderful experience of exchange developed between the children of two different nations, two separate languages and very different customs.

Edith found that arithmetic was the same as at home and that spelling was much easier. Although some of the subjects she couldn't understand, the universal music and art helped her adjust to new ways more easily.

Before she left for her homeland this month, she was feted at two parties by her classmates. On Thursday her dear new friend Vale McMenamy entertained at a dinner party for her. Su Koory, Deanna Davis and Kathy Sholaas came to say auf weidersehn and to present her with gifts for her to take back home.

On the next afternoon the same little girls were joined by Anne Fitzgerald and Linda Grag at the Munill home, 1251 Runnymede avenue, to explore together once more the dikes, romp with the beautiful collie and exchange final words over delicious refreshments.

When Saturday came, some of the girls went with the Munills to the San Francisco International airport to see the departing duo off.

As Edith brushed a tear or two from her eyes she remembered how easy it was and how much fun it was to play American games; how well - mannered American children were although they have so much more freedom and advantages; how exciting the whirling wide skirts and dresses had been; but most of all how polite her teacher was, saying "Please" and "Thank You."

Now Edith is back home by the pretty lake just outside of Bremerhaven where she can whirl in the wide skirts she has brought back to amaze her friends back home and think fondly of her sister's country that someday may be hers.

What's Doing Among Menlo Park Teen-Agers

Jo Booth DA 3-1909
1220 Sevier Avenue, Menlo Park

Thar's still snow up in them thar hills, as proved by two ski trips last weekend!

A combination Hi-Y Tri-Y journey took 46 kids from Carlmont and Sequoia, in addition to M-A, up to Pinecrest, where they stayed, and Dodge Ridge, where they skiied. All were extremely dead when they arrived home about 11:30, but agreed it was really terrific!

* * *

The other trip to the snow was made by a busload of seniors to Badger Pass. Leaving at 3 a. m. (pretty earrly!), they skiied all day, went to Yosemite Lodge for movies, saw the fire falls and wound up the evening with a dance.

After skiing the next morning, they were en route home when — and what a time to happen — the bus broke down in Gilroy! An hour's delay there put everybody home finally at about 1 a. m. (note —that explains the slightly bleary eyed look to any teachers!)

Seniors going included Billie Curry, Gae McCollister, Bea Bowen, Roger Clark, Drew Johnston, Rod Minkler, Nick Juvet, Nancy Golobic, Fran Feiten, Bob Miller, Pam Meyn, Diane Clauson, Cecily Scotford, Carl Rountree, Roger Duncan, Gordy Mathews, Paul Biernatt, Jackie Steinberg, Marge Hutter, John Adams, John McKee.

Sally Mixter, Margaret Roehr, Bruce Carter, Al White, Sylvia Staub, Bob Mathis, Jok Legallet, Jon Legallet, Bob Miller, Paul Lorton, Jim Hagerty, Colin Clark, Bruce, Paul McAllister, Dick Walker, Carol Ullman, Janice Wild, Nancy Walsh, Pat Pridmore, Georgia Huston and Mrs. Juvet and Mr. Lugonja.

Also up there, but not with the seniors, were Dale Crane, Orlin Hughes and Sonny McNitt.

* * *

Getting to bed a bit later than the unfortunate skiiers were four girls at Sue Samuels' slumber party!

Before the retiring time of 5 a. m., records were played and "mounds of food" was thoroughly devoured! Gals there included Sharon Moore, Merry Davenport, Joanne Broeren and Jacque Cook.

Another feminine party was the one flang by Nancy Van Artsdale. A few quick games of ping pong, and some impromptu dancing preceded a delicious dinner, where Nancy was presented with a big stuffed dog.

Bowling and TV ended the evening, which was very much enjoyed by Barbara Rhoades, Helen Burgess, Lynne Mokler, Alice Taylor, Ann Bartells, Diane Ackerman, Jo Booth and Emily Merk.

* * *

A regular party, given by Loretta Genanion, was one that, to the surprise of Nancy Parish, turned out to be in honor of her birthday!

Dancing, talking and loads of food passed the time away very quickly for Larry Ludgus, Sue Legallet, Sam McErlane, Barbara Dickman, Hank Edwards, Sue Estberg, Ed Maloney, Deanna Stone, Larry Miller, Jill Kudlich, Tom Gore, Sandy Nelson, Don Powell and Tom Hensell.

* * *

Two furry white dogs will remind Billie Curry and Barbera Nearon of a surprise party given for both by two other girls—Carol Hill and Marilyn Kelly! The girls were taken to Renato's first for dinner, cake and balloons.

Guests included Sara Cunningham, Nancy Achziger, Nancy Silberberger, Ann Peterson, Carolyn Colby, Louise Layman, Jaynie Wright and Jean McIntyre.

* * *

Pleeze! If you have heard of any parties, given 'em or gone to 'em, please call us! The phone number's DA 3-1909. (We also welcome new jokes!)

Thought for the day — A Hindu fakir, the kind that steps on a bed of nails, was suing his wife for divorce. When asked why, he said, "She drives me insane — she's always eating crackers in bed!"

"Good Neighbor Policy" Seen Around Olive Street Environs

By PROXY

The "good neighbor policy" is a real thing along the 600 and 700 blocks of Olive street. Last week, in honor of a new resident, Mrs. Bernard L. Smith, Mrs. Robert Walker and Mrs. Richard Starr cooked up some special goodies and invited neighbors up and down the street to a dessert and get-acquainted session.

Among localites who turned out for last Saturday's Peninsula Symphony association concert were the Elmo Haydens and Joseph A. Scaronis Jr., who had made it a foursome for the occasion. The Haydens are among the sponsors for the Symphony, which is now in its sixth season.

* * * *

Some of those lovely ski tans you've been spotting this week belong to members of the George S. Ford, Donald Newport and Lawrence Klein clans.

The Fords, including Wendy Ann, Steven and Tom . . . the Newports with Sally and Patty (Donna was up with a high school group) . . . and the Kleins escorted by Judy and Peter spent a long weekend at Mountain lodge, Dodge Ridge with no mishaps until Sunday, when Patty sprained her ankle walking on the icy surface and the Fords' car suffered a cracked motor despite draining. Otherwise, the family enjoyed a wonderful time, climaxing their evening with folk and square dancing to Don Newport's records and calls.

Peninsula Volunteer "kick chorines" are already brushing up on their techniques—rehearsals started this week at Nancy Walker's, and results will be incorporated in the mysterious "something special this year" floor show which will highlight the PV's annual May "Kick-Off" party.

Following a busy day in the cast of "The Wizard of Oz" this Saturday, Marcie Dubbs will join forces with her husband, Andre, to host a small cocktail gathering and "housewarming" at their brand new (they moved in this week) Flood circle home.

* * * *

Many localites are looking forward to this evening's cocktail party being given by Dorothy McKenzie in the Members' room of the San Francisco Museum of Art. Invitations to the soiree were the hostess' handiwork, and were indelibly marked with her "signature," favorite colors of gray, yellow and white.

DECORATE FOR CONCERT

MRS. GARETH KELLAM and Mrs. Robert Clarke (above) were among the members of the Woodside-Atherton Garden club who made up a committee which decorated Sequoia high school auditorium for the Friday evening concert of the Peninsula Symphony association. Mrs. Ralph Davies, president of the club, appointed Mrs. Kellam and Mrs. Clarke to serve with Mrs. William Payne and Mrs. Stanley Morrison on the committee before she left on her southern garden tour. Decorating the auditorium for the concerts is a new project shared in turn by various peninsula garden clubs. —Menlo Camera Shop photo

More About:

BRAZIL . . .

are the Artists' Ball, held one week before Carnaval; the one at the Opera House, where the best costume is chosen; and the ones at the Copacabana Palace Hotel, the Yacht Club and Hotel Quitandinha in Petropolis.

For these, it is necessary to wear either a costume or formal dress. The costumes usually are fabulous and most inmaginative.

SUMMER PALACE

Petropolis is the site of the former summer palace of the Emperors of Brazil. It is now a most interesting museum where, in addition to the exquisite china and crystal and other household furnishings, the crown jewels are displayed.

One can also see the throne room and family rooms exactly as they were during the reigns of Don Pedro I and II.

The town of Petropolis is high in the mountains behind Rio and offers a welcome retreat from the oppressive tropic heat.

Even the president of the Republic of Brazil, Joao Cafe Filho moved his entire cabinet to Petropolis this summer to avoid the heat, and many Rio families have summer homes where they go for week-ends or for several months.

The scenery is absolutely beautiful, with tall trees, tropical jungles of vines and shrubs, brilliant flowers and many streams dashing down the moutains.

HOTEL QUITONDINHA

Hotel Quitandinha, situated there, was originally built for $8,000,000 as a gambling palace. It is a fabulously large and magnificent hotel, the interior decorating done under Dorothy Draper's supervision.

It has an indoor swimming pool several "boites" or night clubs, a huge auditorium where large conferences are held. Last year it accommodated the Economic conference of which you, no doubt, have read.

Often during the off-season groups of us go up for long week ends because of the climate and other attractions, such as horse backriding, hiking, etc., and it is a drive of only an hour and a half over an excellent highway.

Other fascinating cities in Brazil must be visited by air because the distances are so great, but they are well worth the trip. I was in Belo Horizonte and Oro Preto last Easter.

MODERN CITY

The first is a most progressive and modern city, the new capital of the state of Minas Gerais.

The latter city is old and rich in history and landmarks. It was the first capital of this state, and has remained almost untouched by progress. The churches are exquisite and all reflect the love and devotion of the people.

The city of churches, however is Salvador, capital of the state of Bahia. This is the home of Marta Rocha, the girl who won second place in the recent beauty contest for Miss Universe. Every shop and store proudly displays her picture.

Salvador, the city with the elevator leading from the Lower City along the waterfront, crowded with picturesque "jangadas" or fishing boats, to the Upper City where are located the shopping centers, residential district and government buildings, is also the city with rich historical background.

365 CHURCHES

Bahia is reputed to have 365 churches, but we didn't count them. Everywhere there are evidences of early invasions or attempts to take over the city by the French, the Dutch and other countries. The forts still display the results of bombardments and ancient, rusty cannons remain mounted in courtyards and on the battlements.

I thought it was the most interesting city in Brazil, but for everyday living, give me the beauty and splendor of the Cidade Maravelhosa, Rio de Janeiro.

Mrs. Ado Brown is magazine chairman.
